

Where Have All the (Good) Jobs Gone?

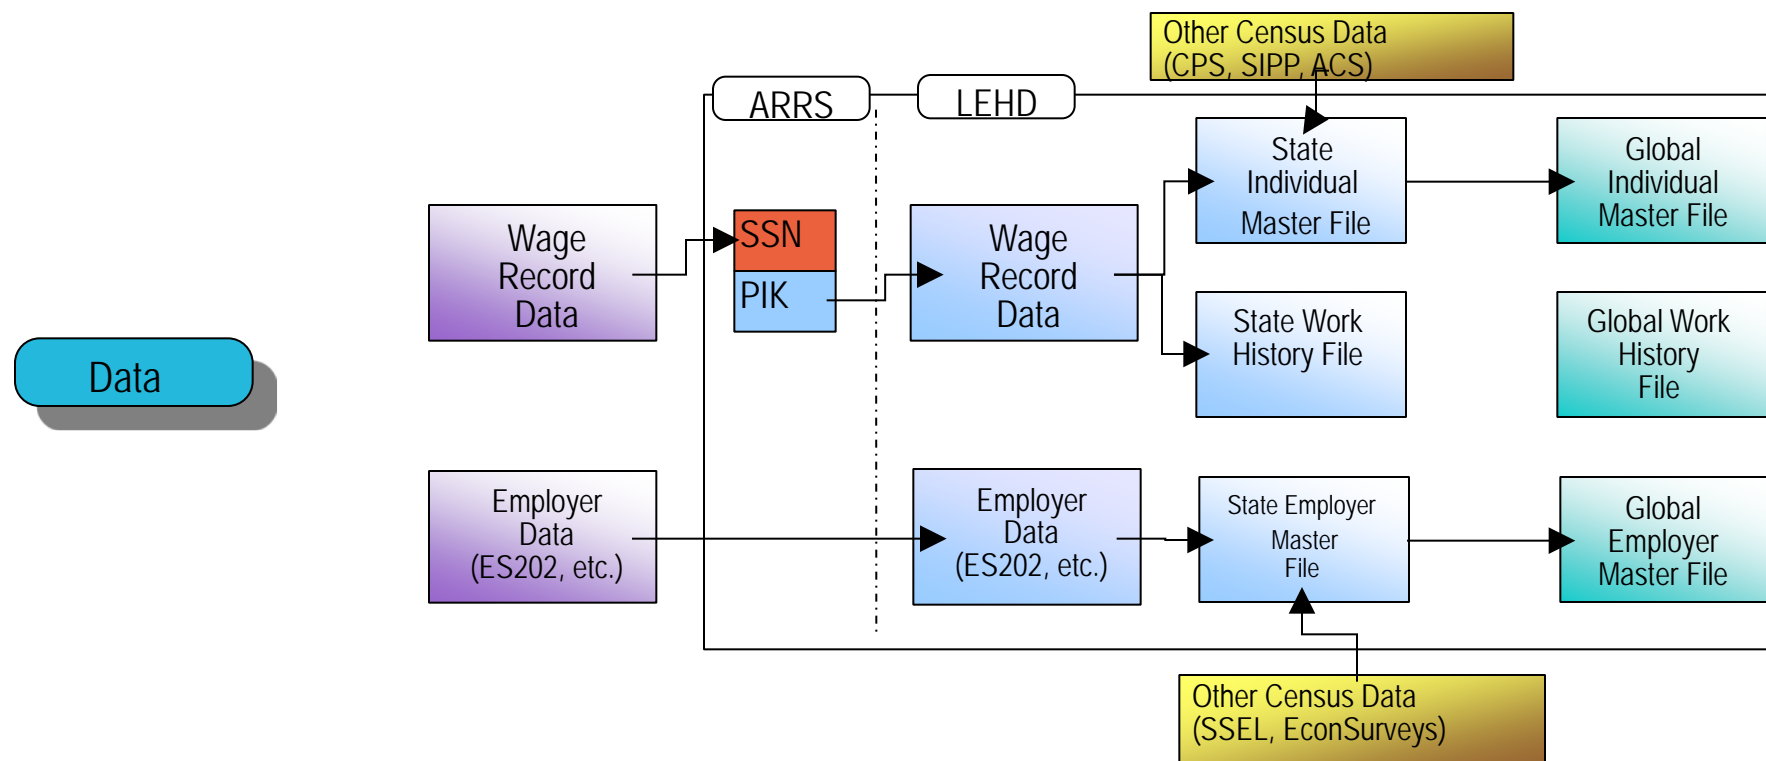

with apologies to Pete Seeger

John M. Abowd
Prepared for the Local Employment Dynamics
Annual Workshop September 9th, 2014
Washington, DC

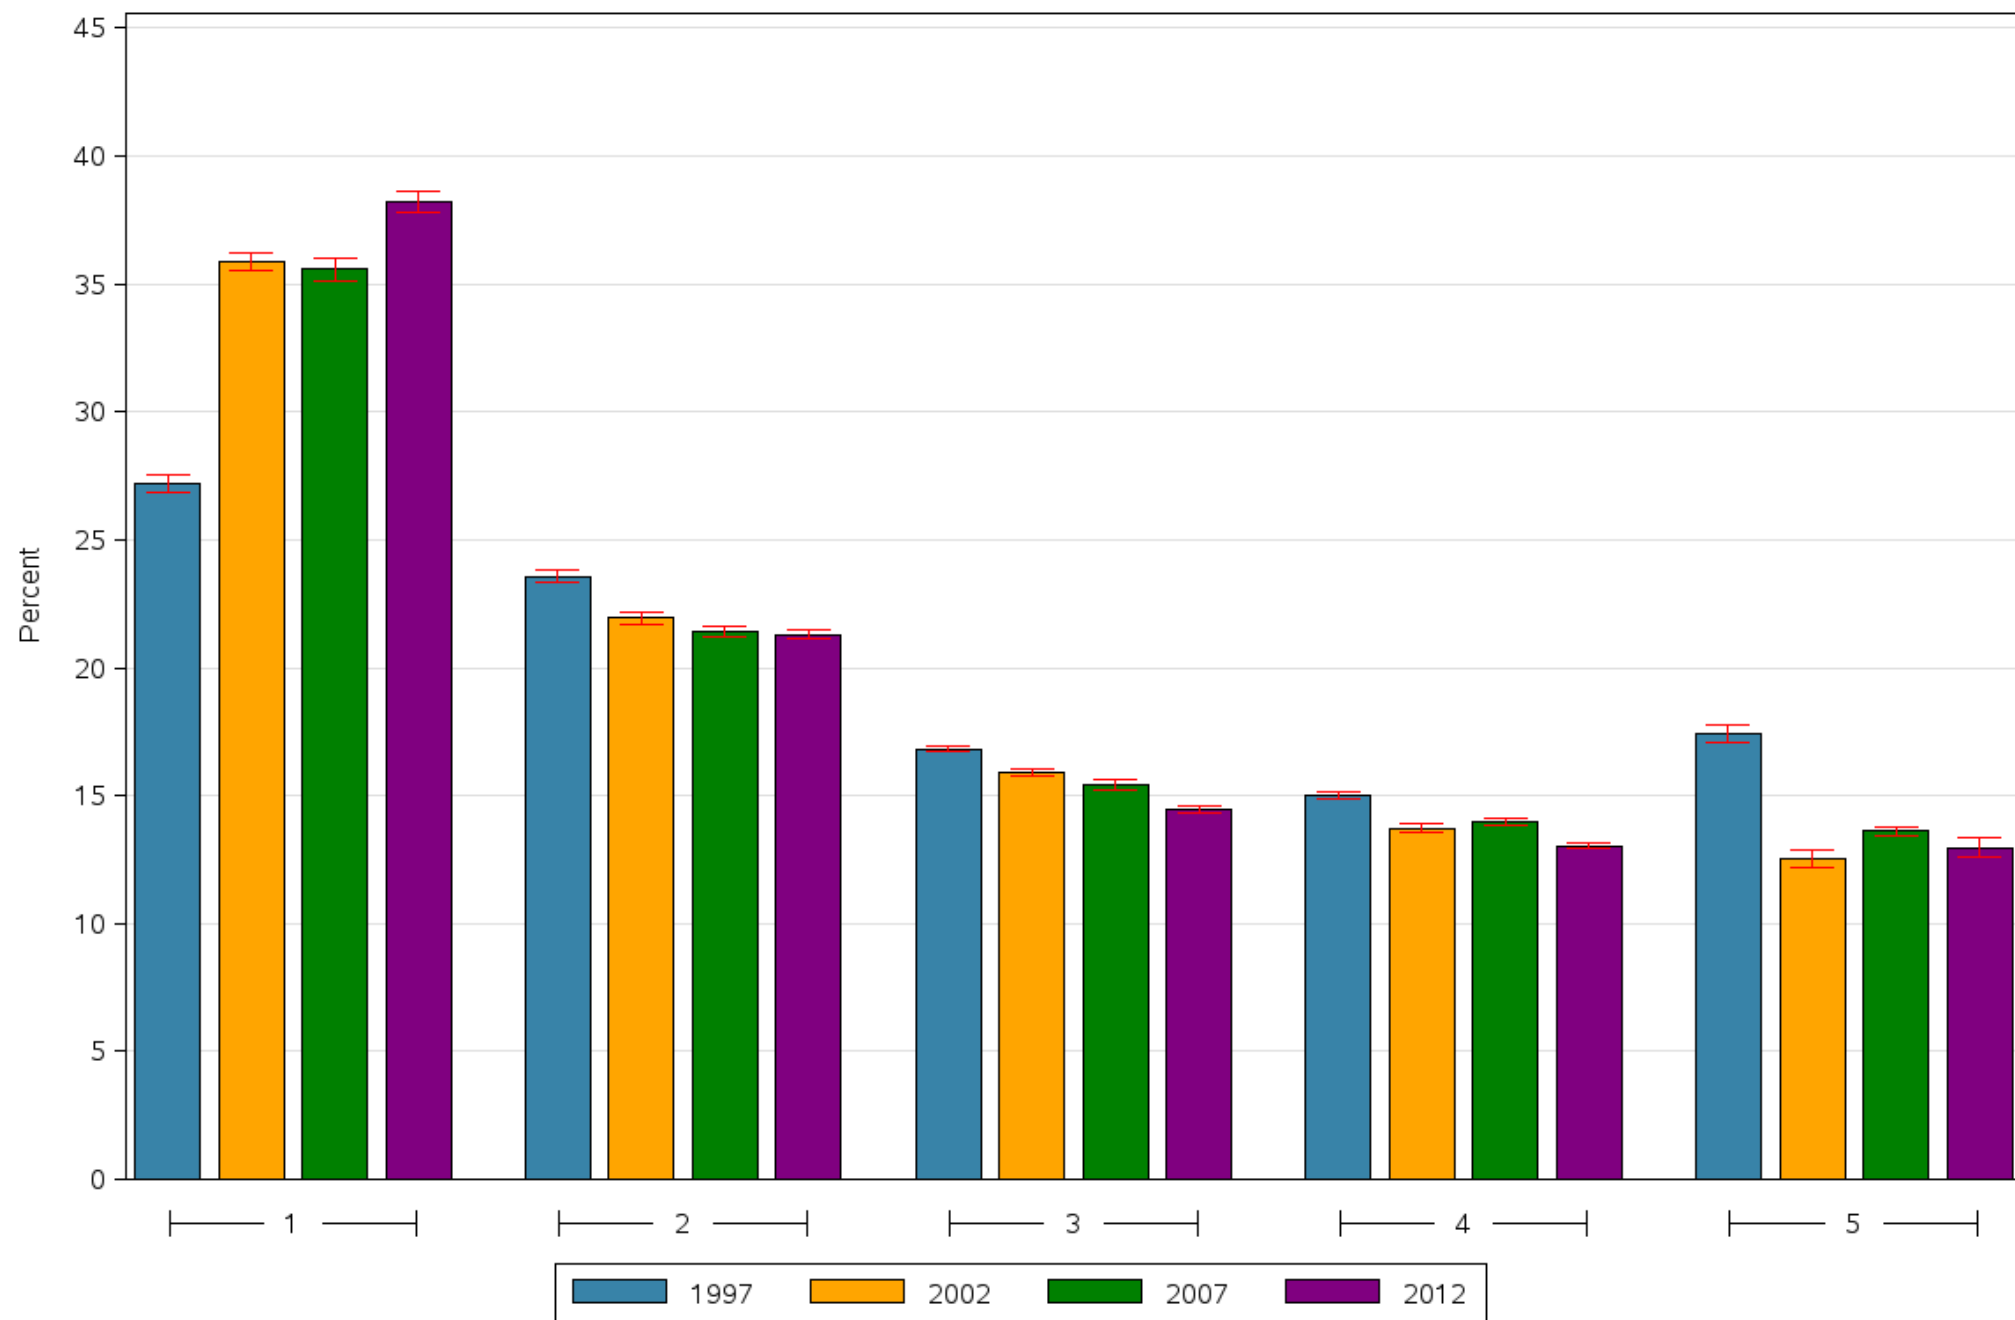

Acknowledgements and Disclaimer

- I am grateful for substantial financial support from NSF, NIA, Sloan, and especially the U.S. Census Bureau.
- I am also deeply indebted to several generations of current and former students, colleagues at the Census Bureau, colleagues at Cornell, and colleagues at other NSF-Census Research Network nodes who have collaborated on various components of the research presented here.
- The statistical results presented in this address use confidential data from the Census Bureau. Tables and figures have undergone disclosure avoidance review to ensure that no confidential information is revealed.

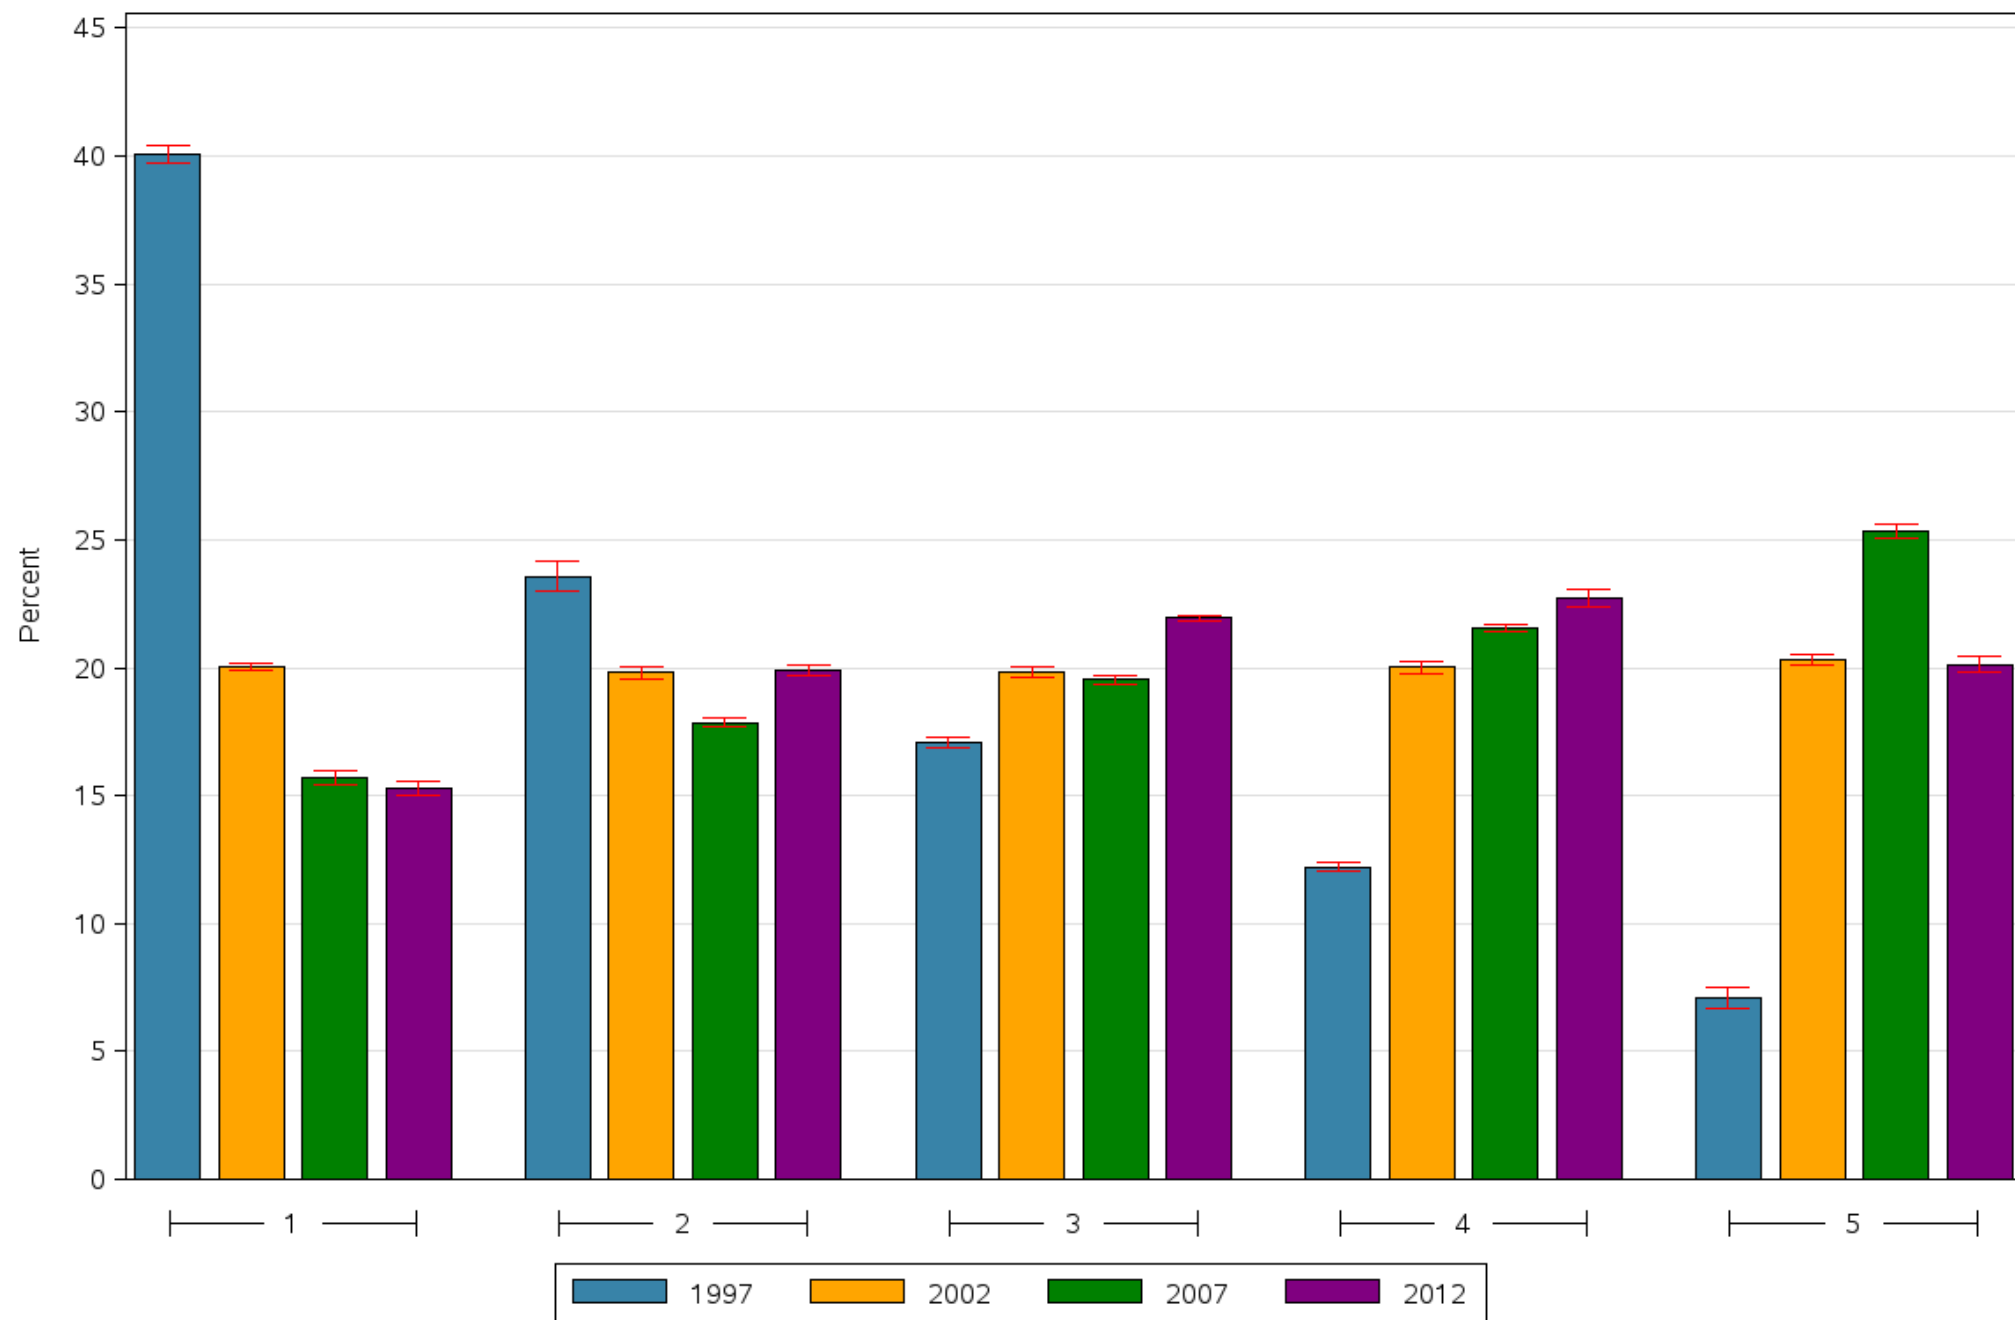

Overall LEHD Design

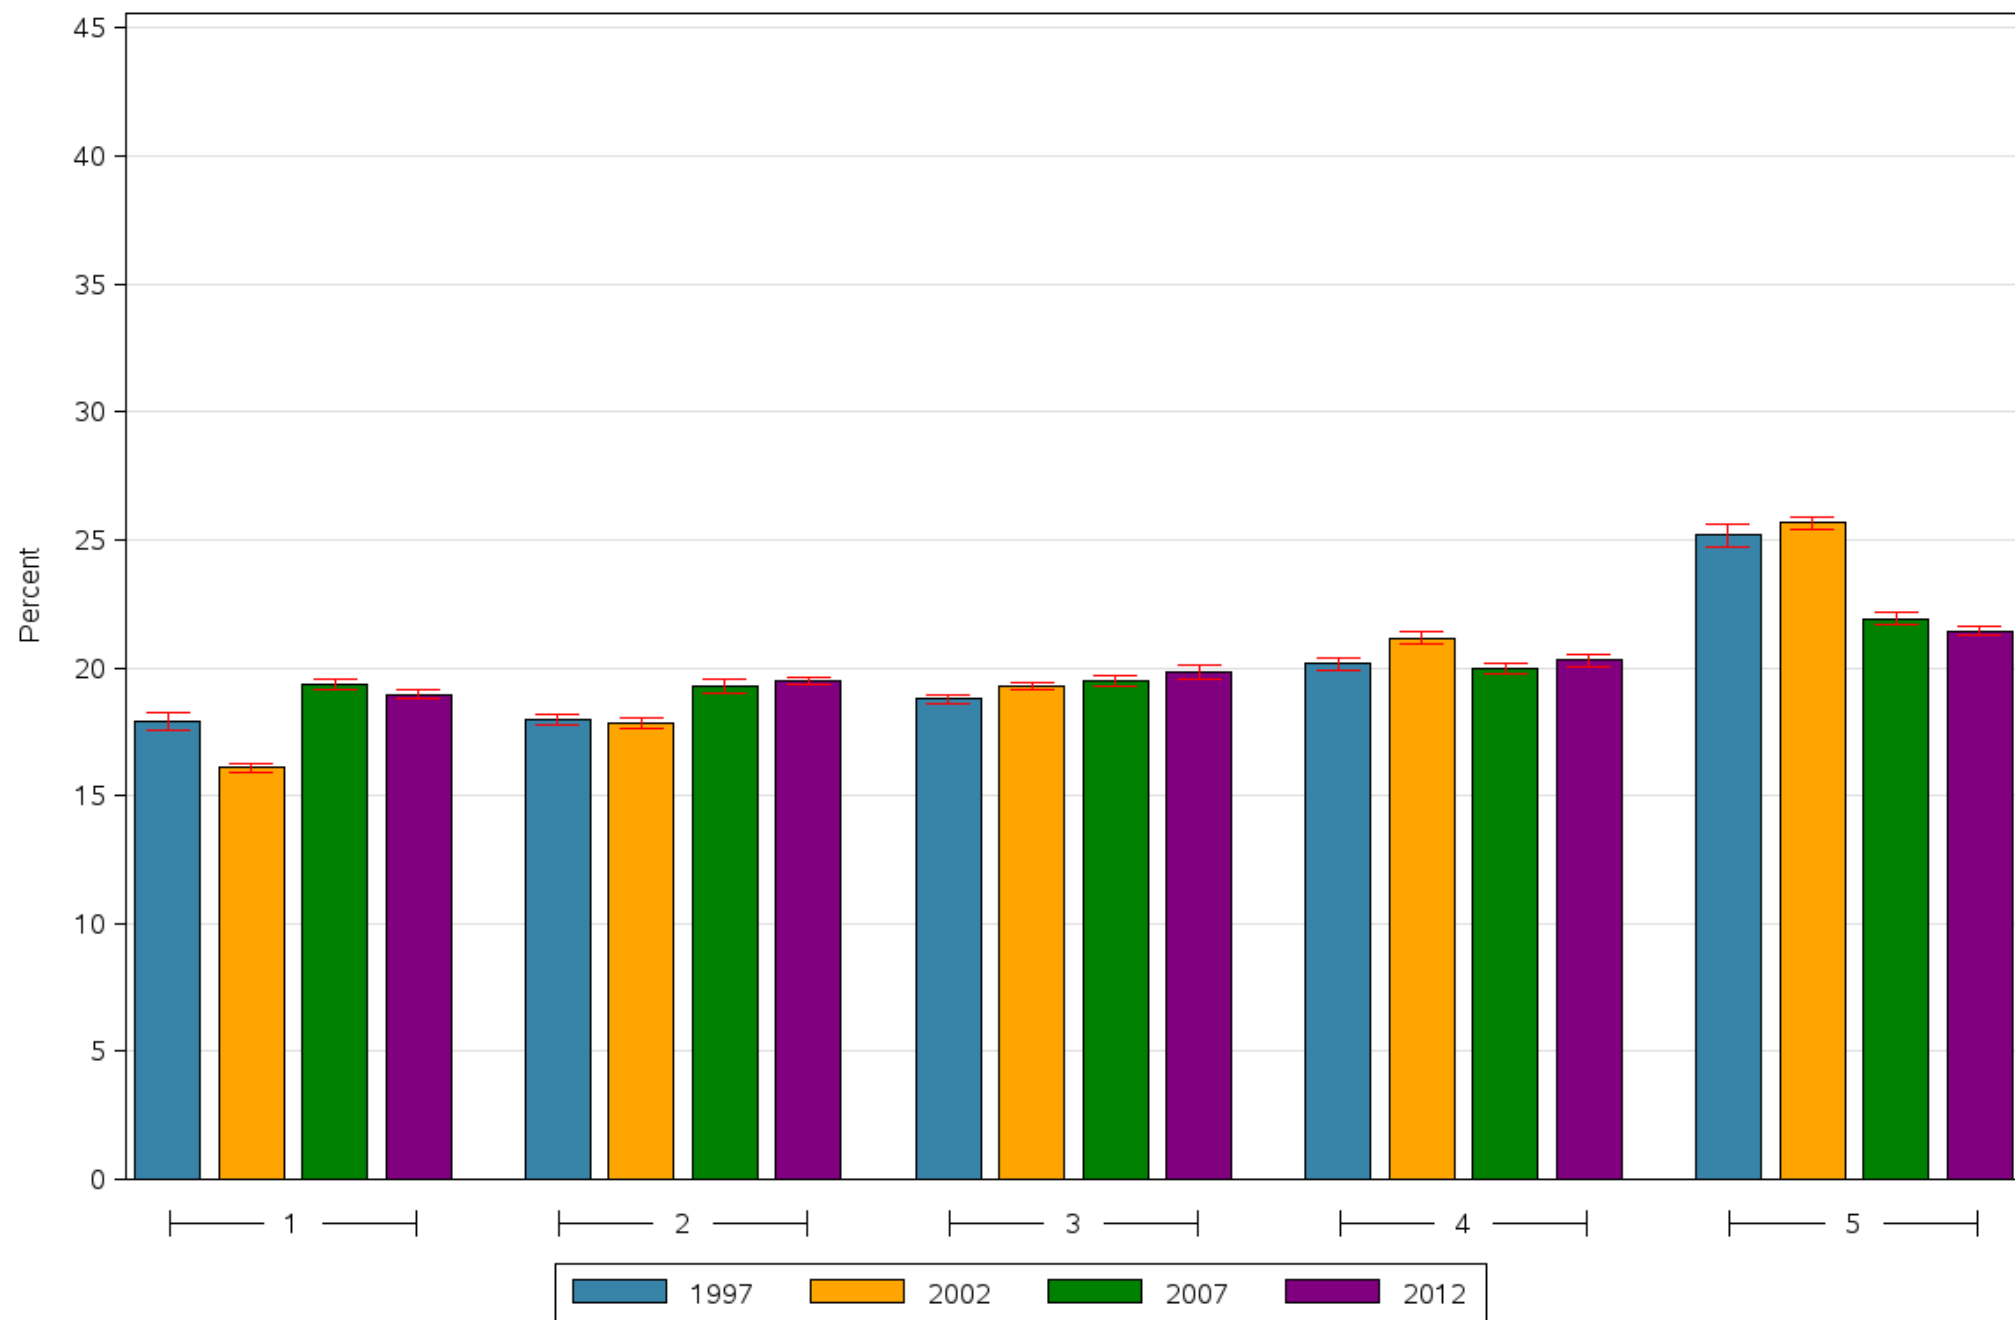

Distribution of Employment by Surplus (Quasi-rent) per Worker

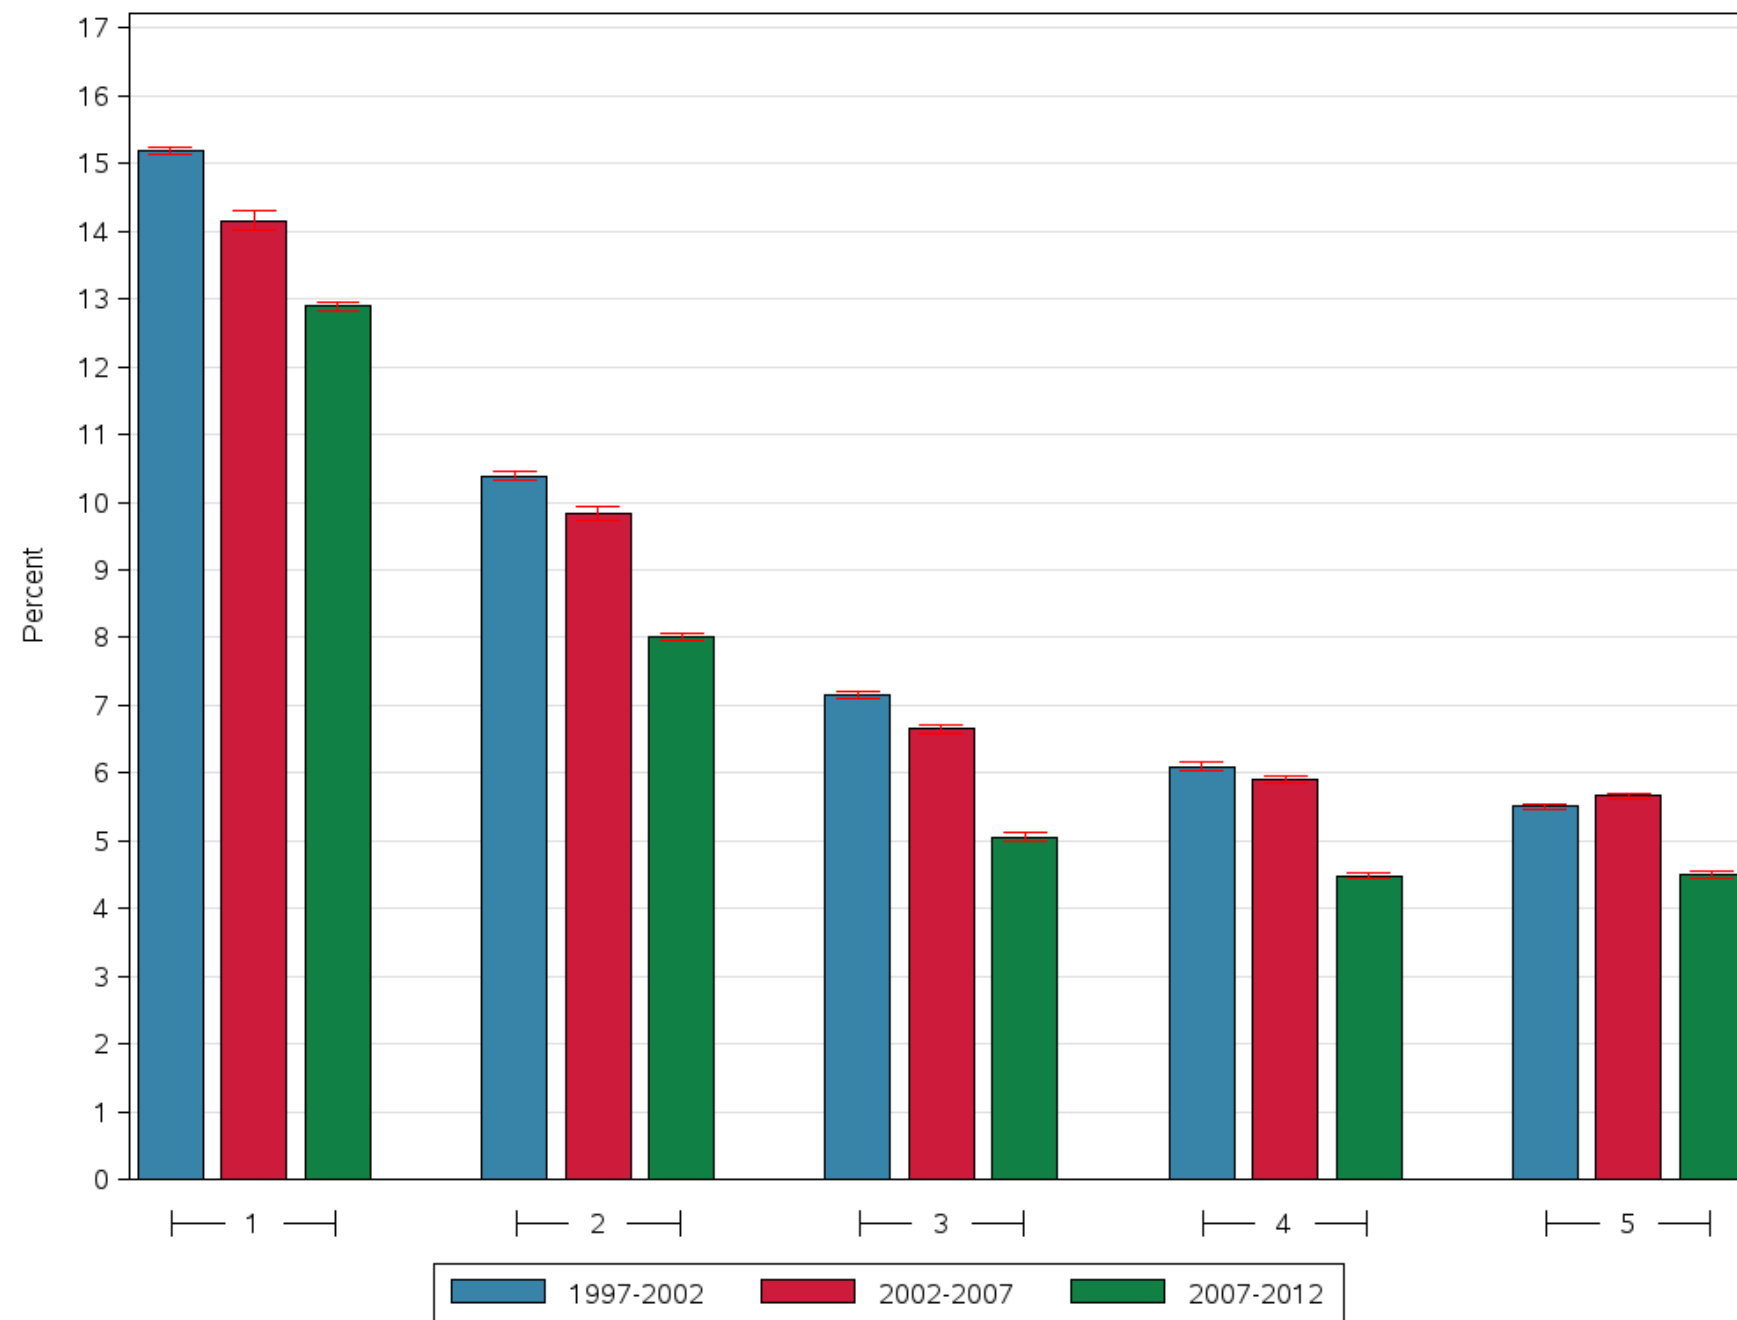

Distribution of Employment by Opportunity Wage Rate

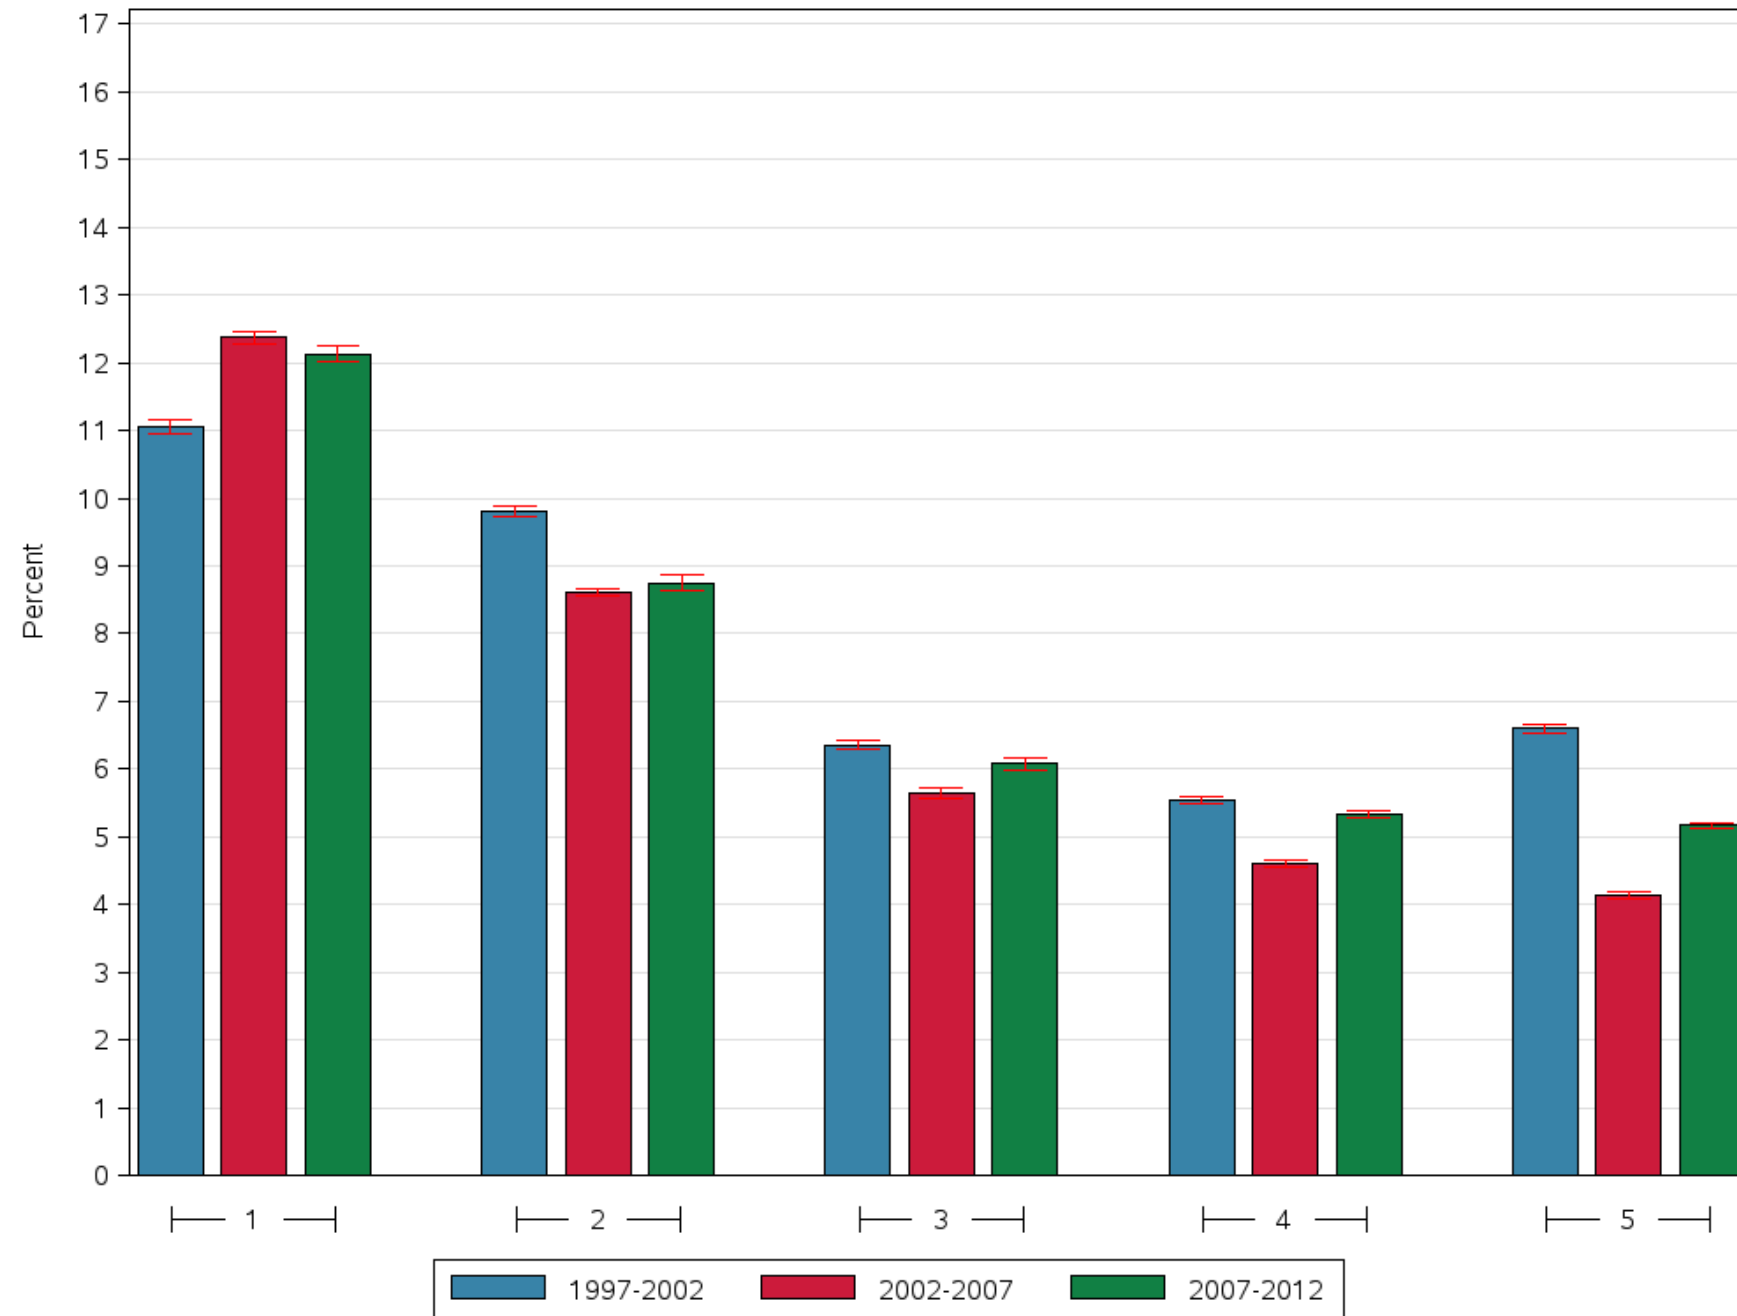

Distribution of Employment by Employer Pay Premium

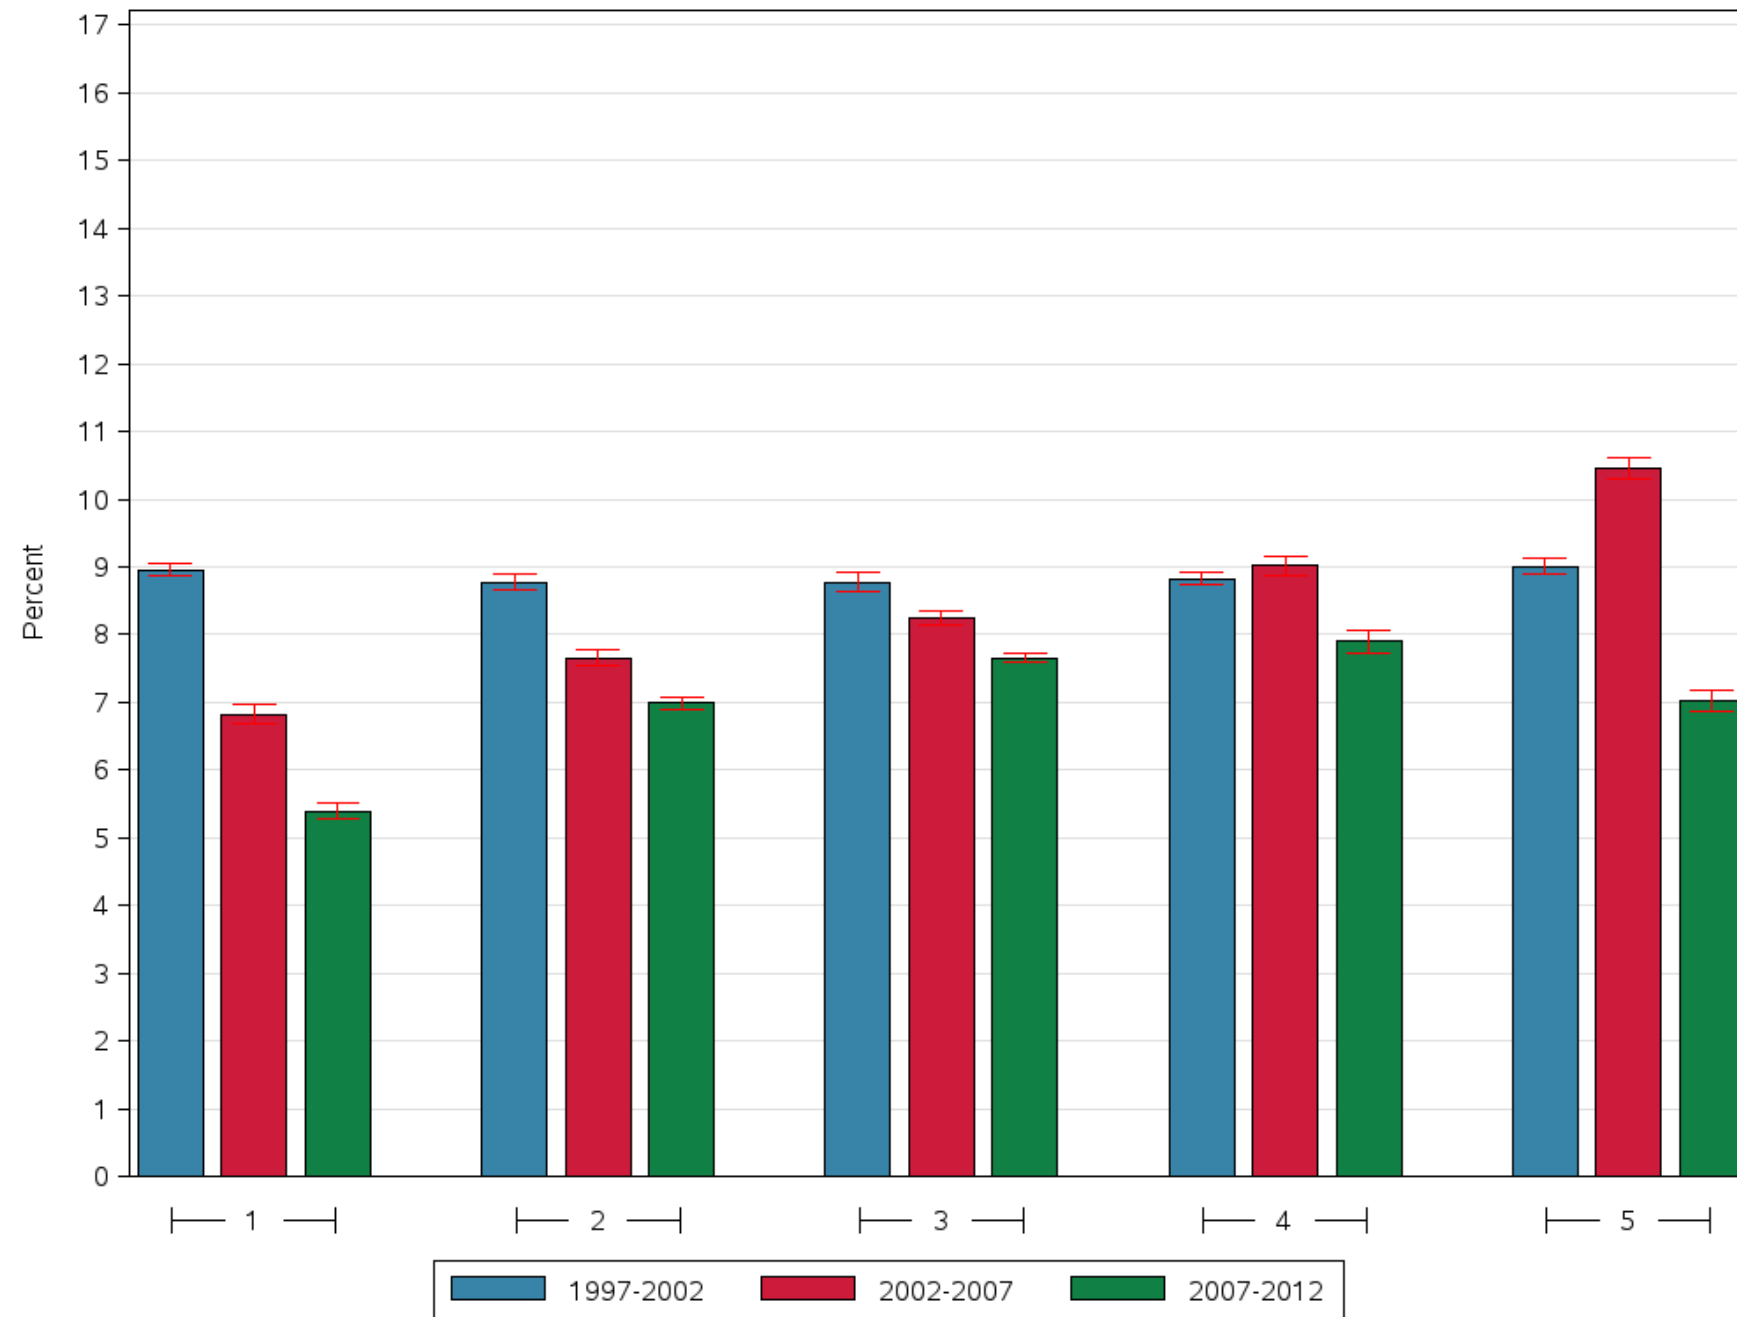

Job Creations by Surplus (Quasi-rent) per Worker

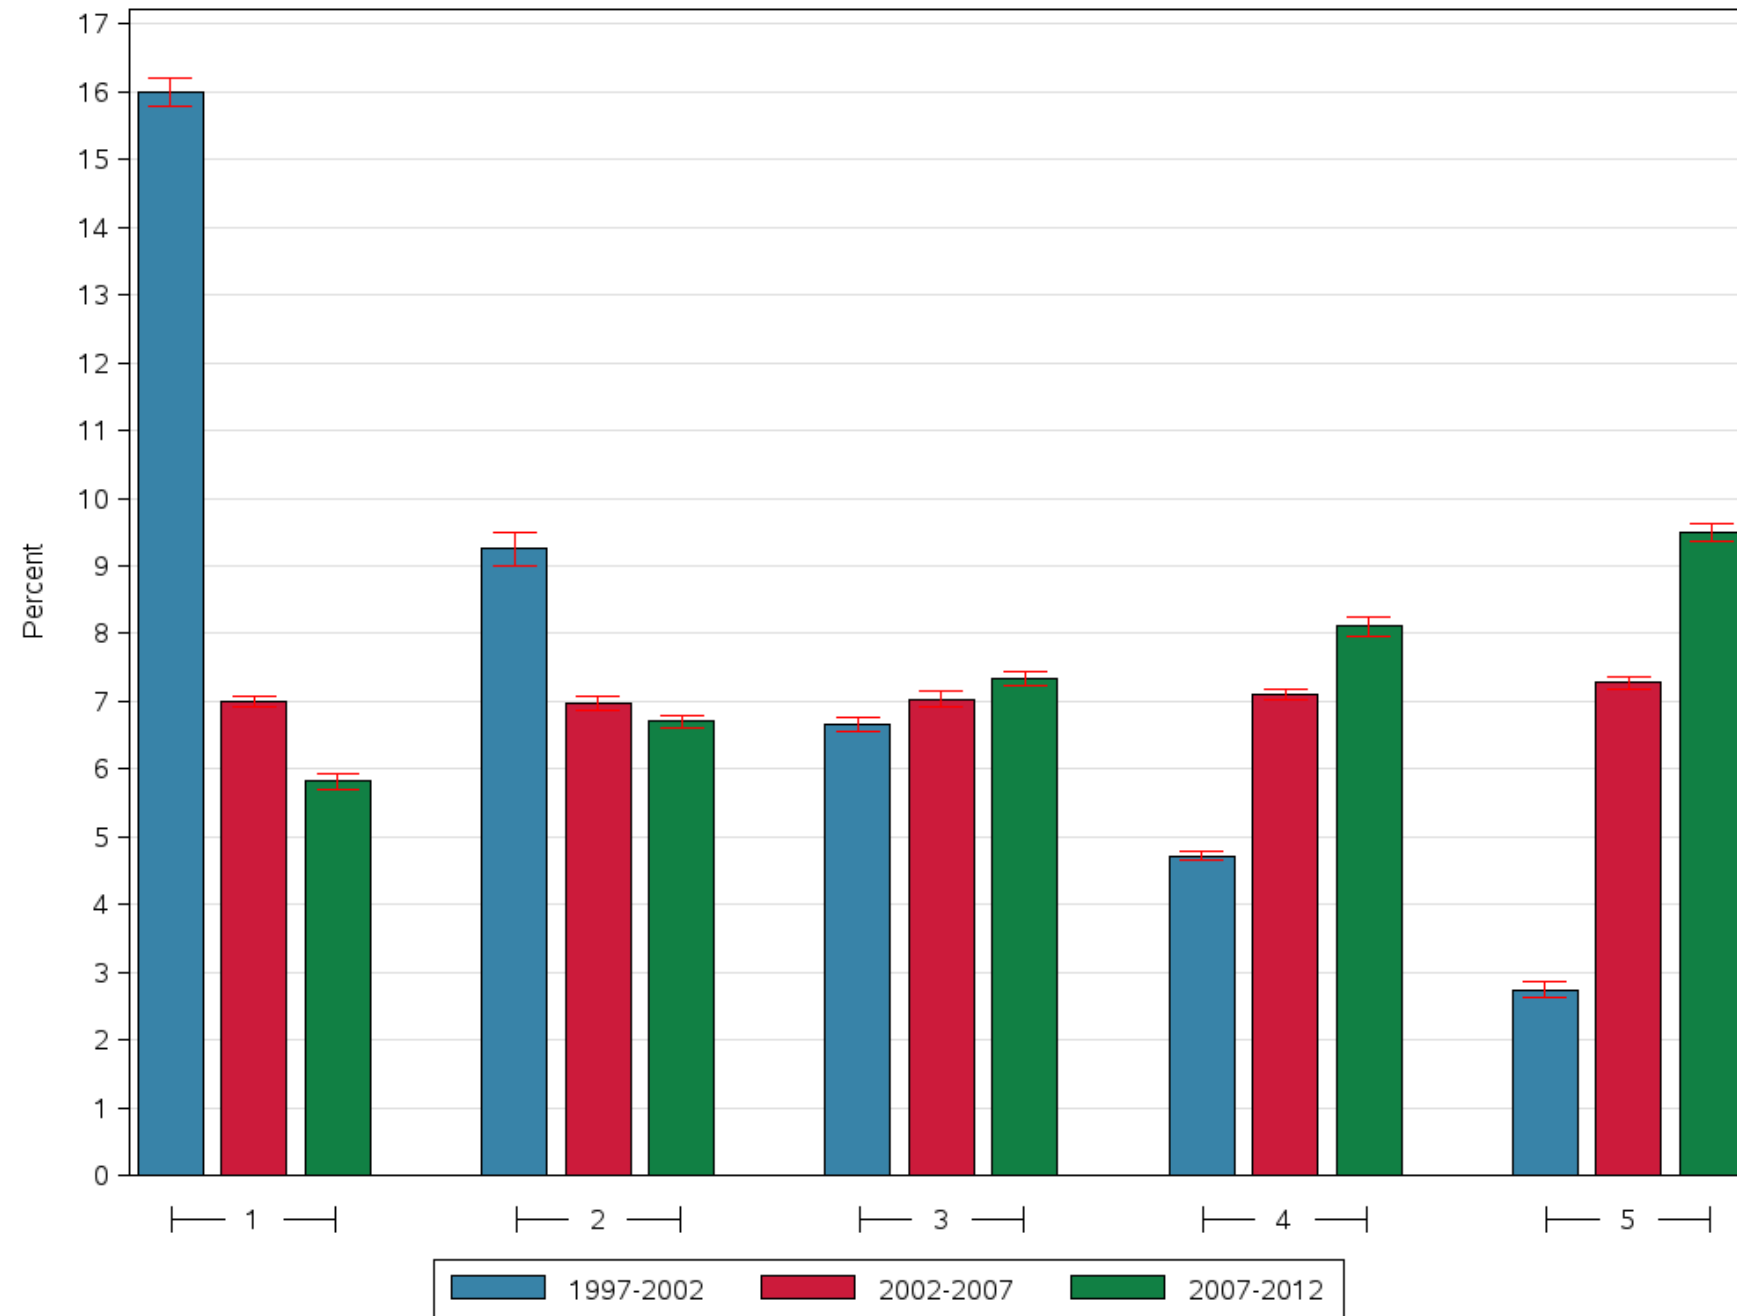

Job Destructations by Surplus (Quasi-rent) per Worker

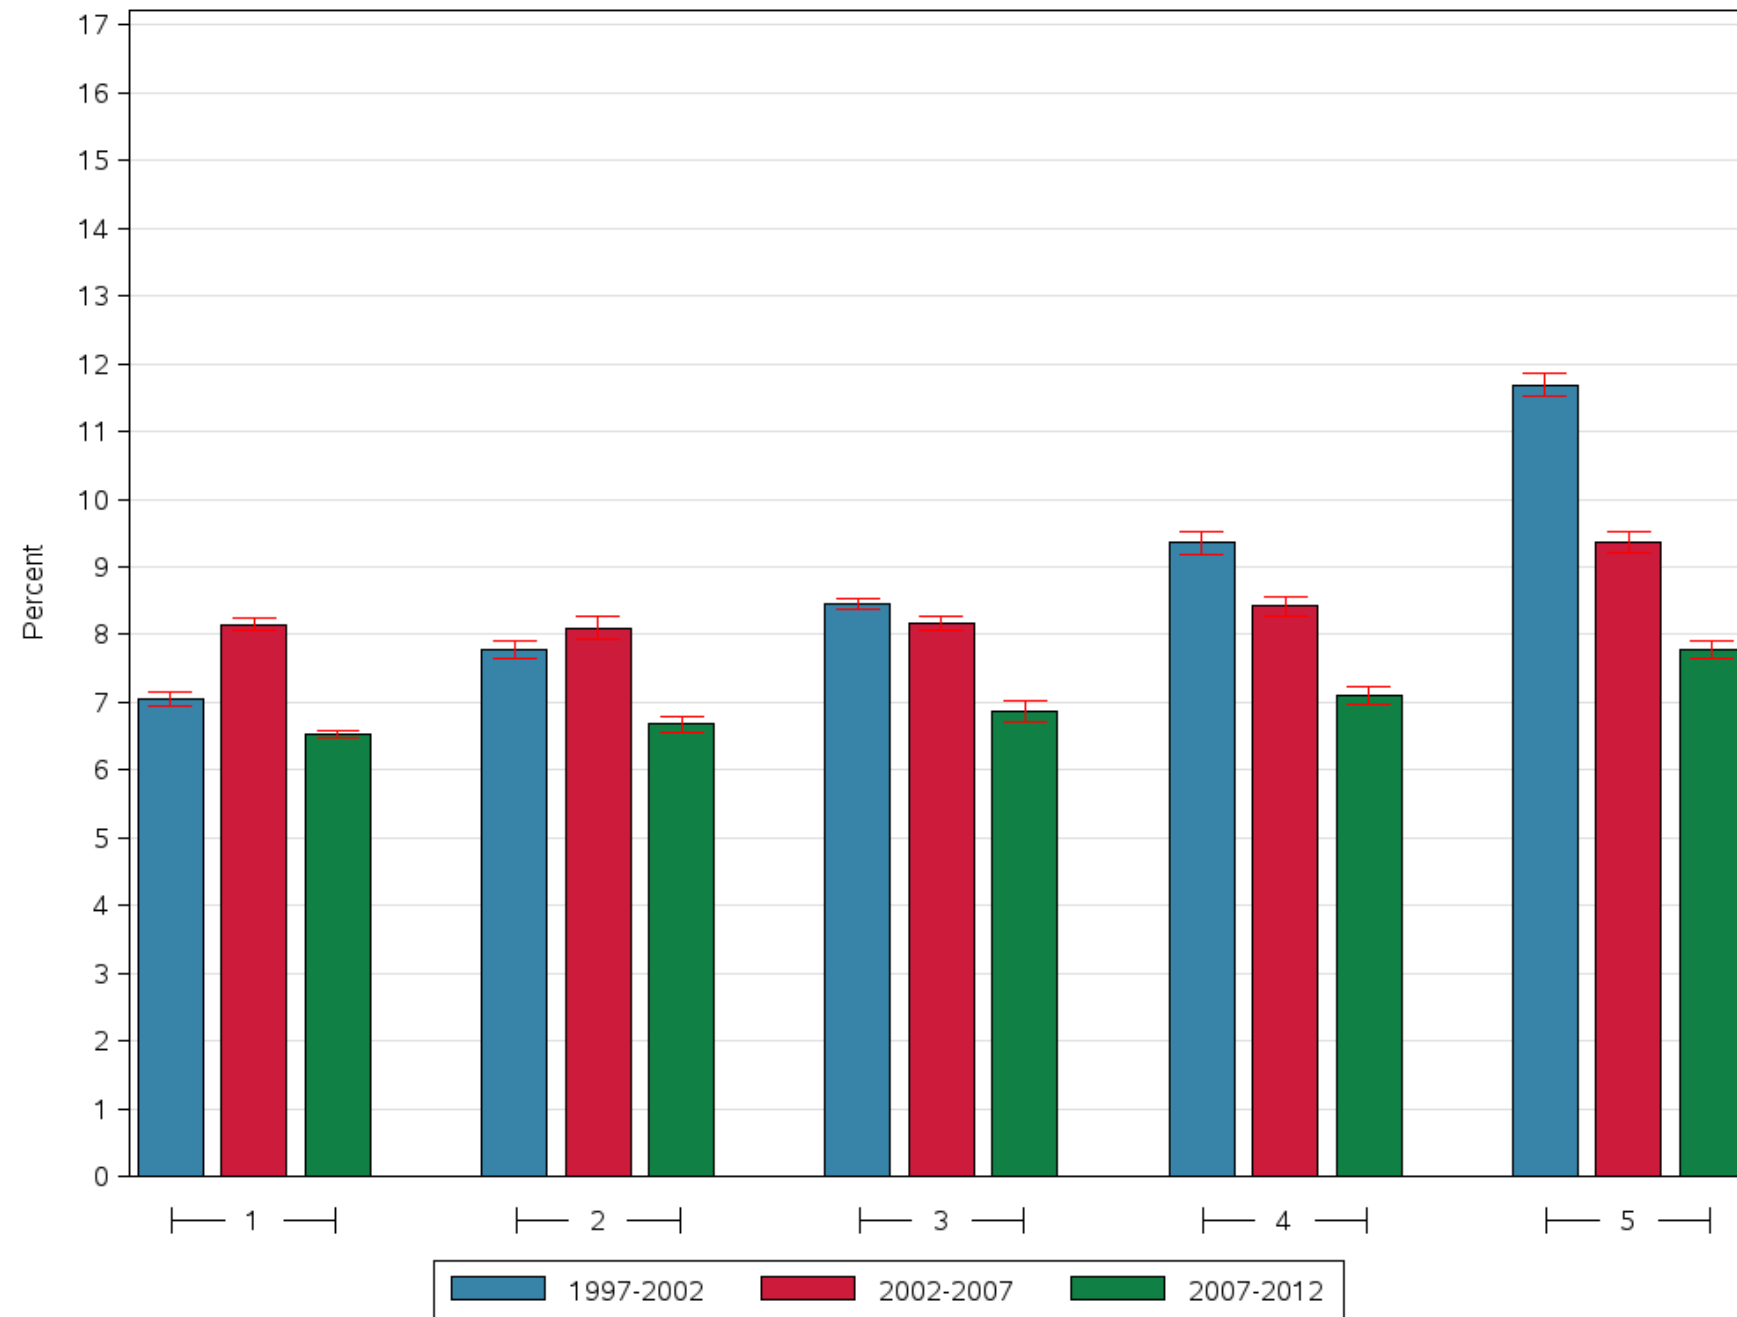

Job Creations by Opportunity Wage Rate

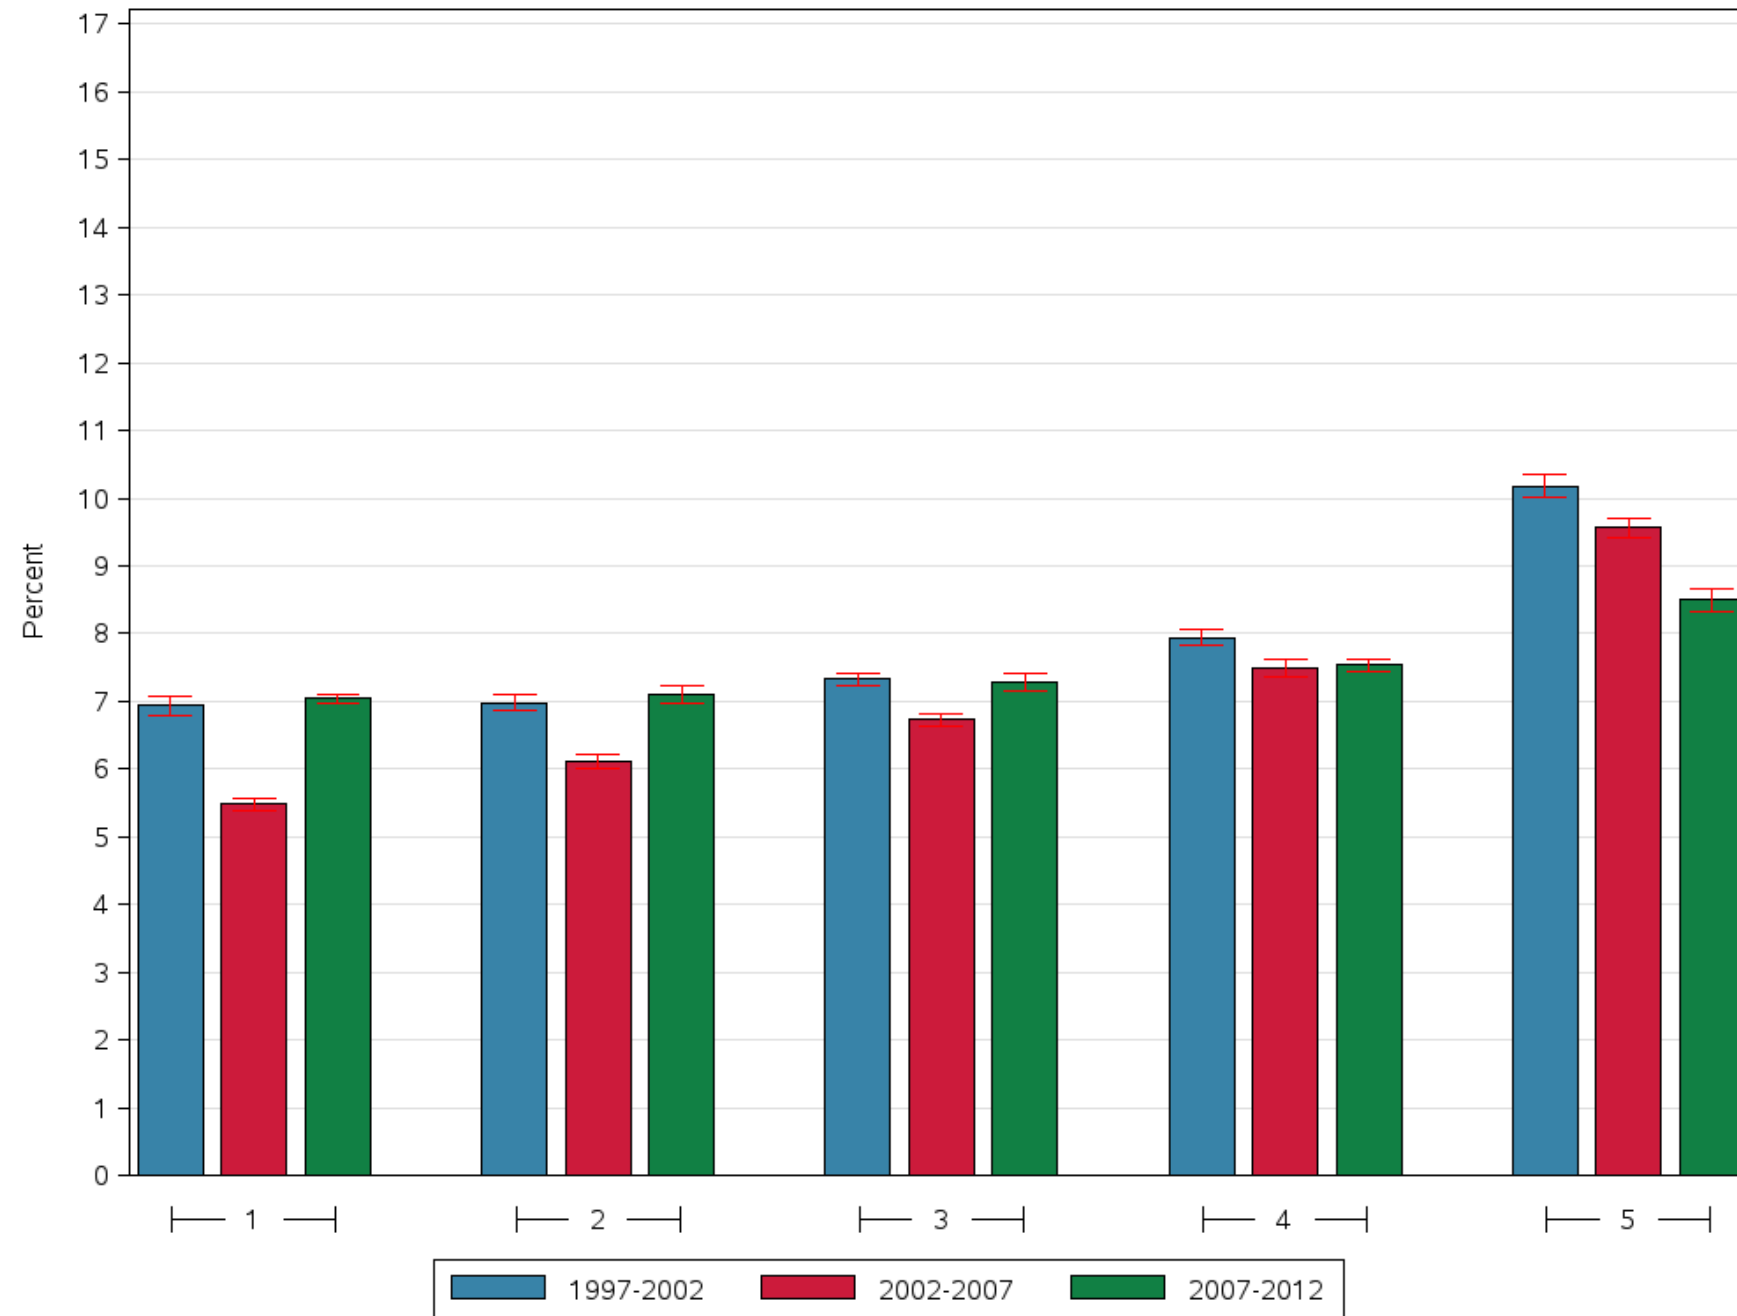

Job Destructuations by Opportunity Wage Rate

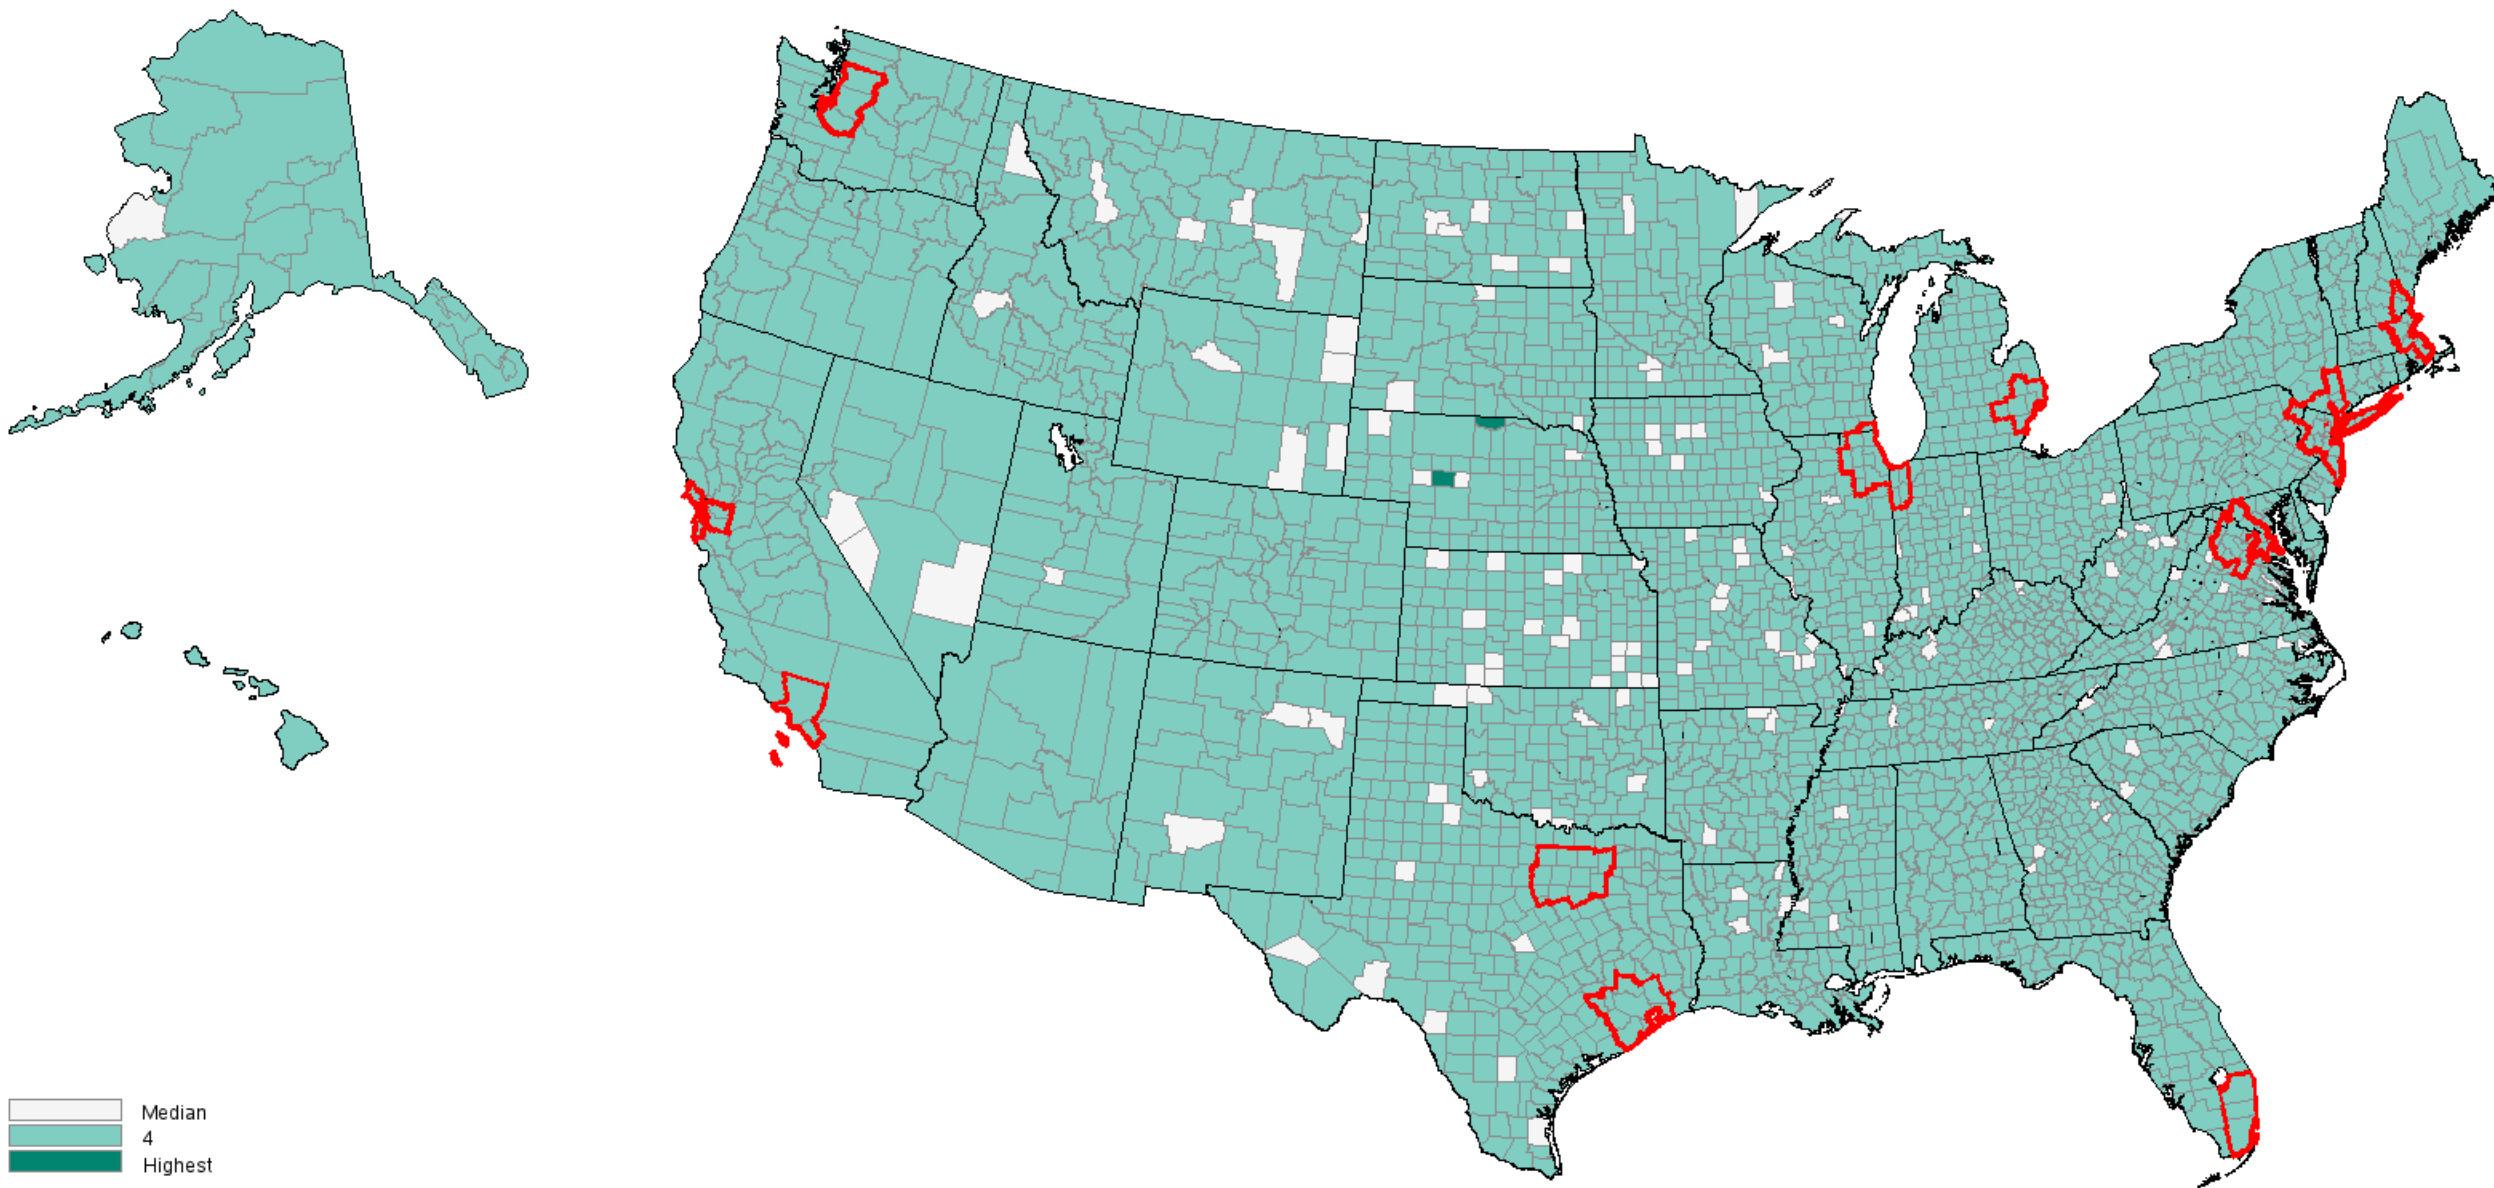

Job Creations by Employer Pay Premium

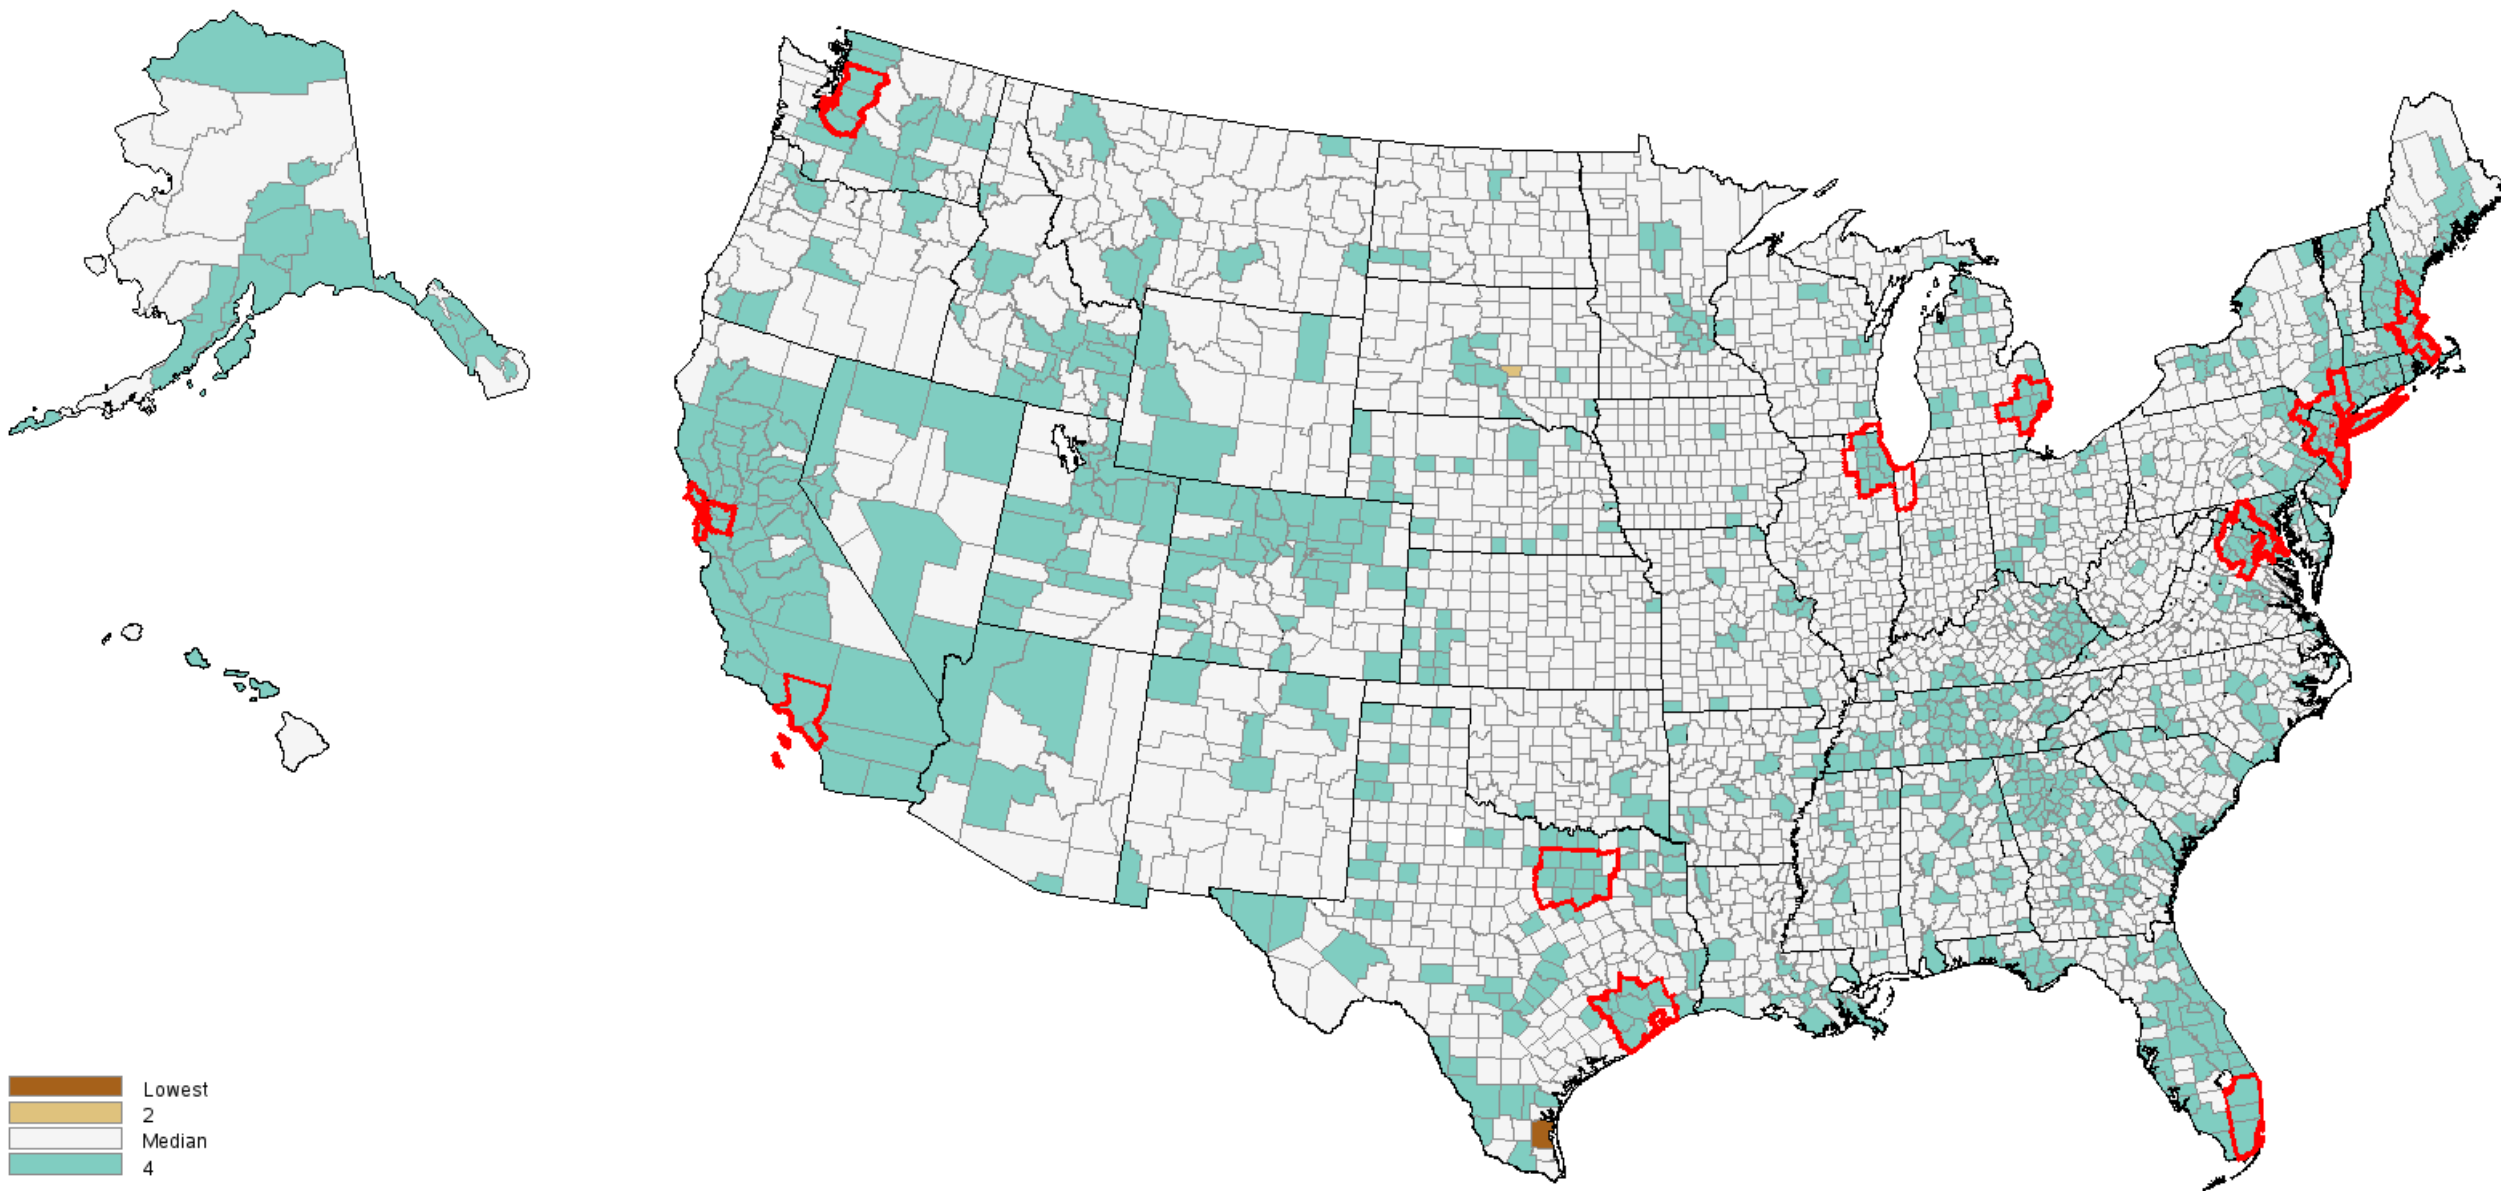

Job Destructons by Employer Pay Premium

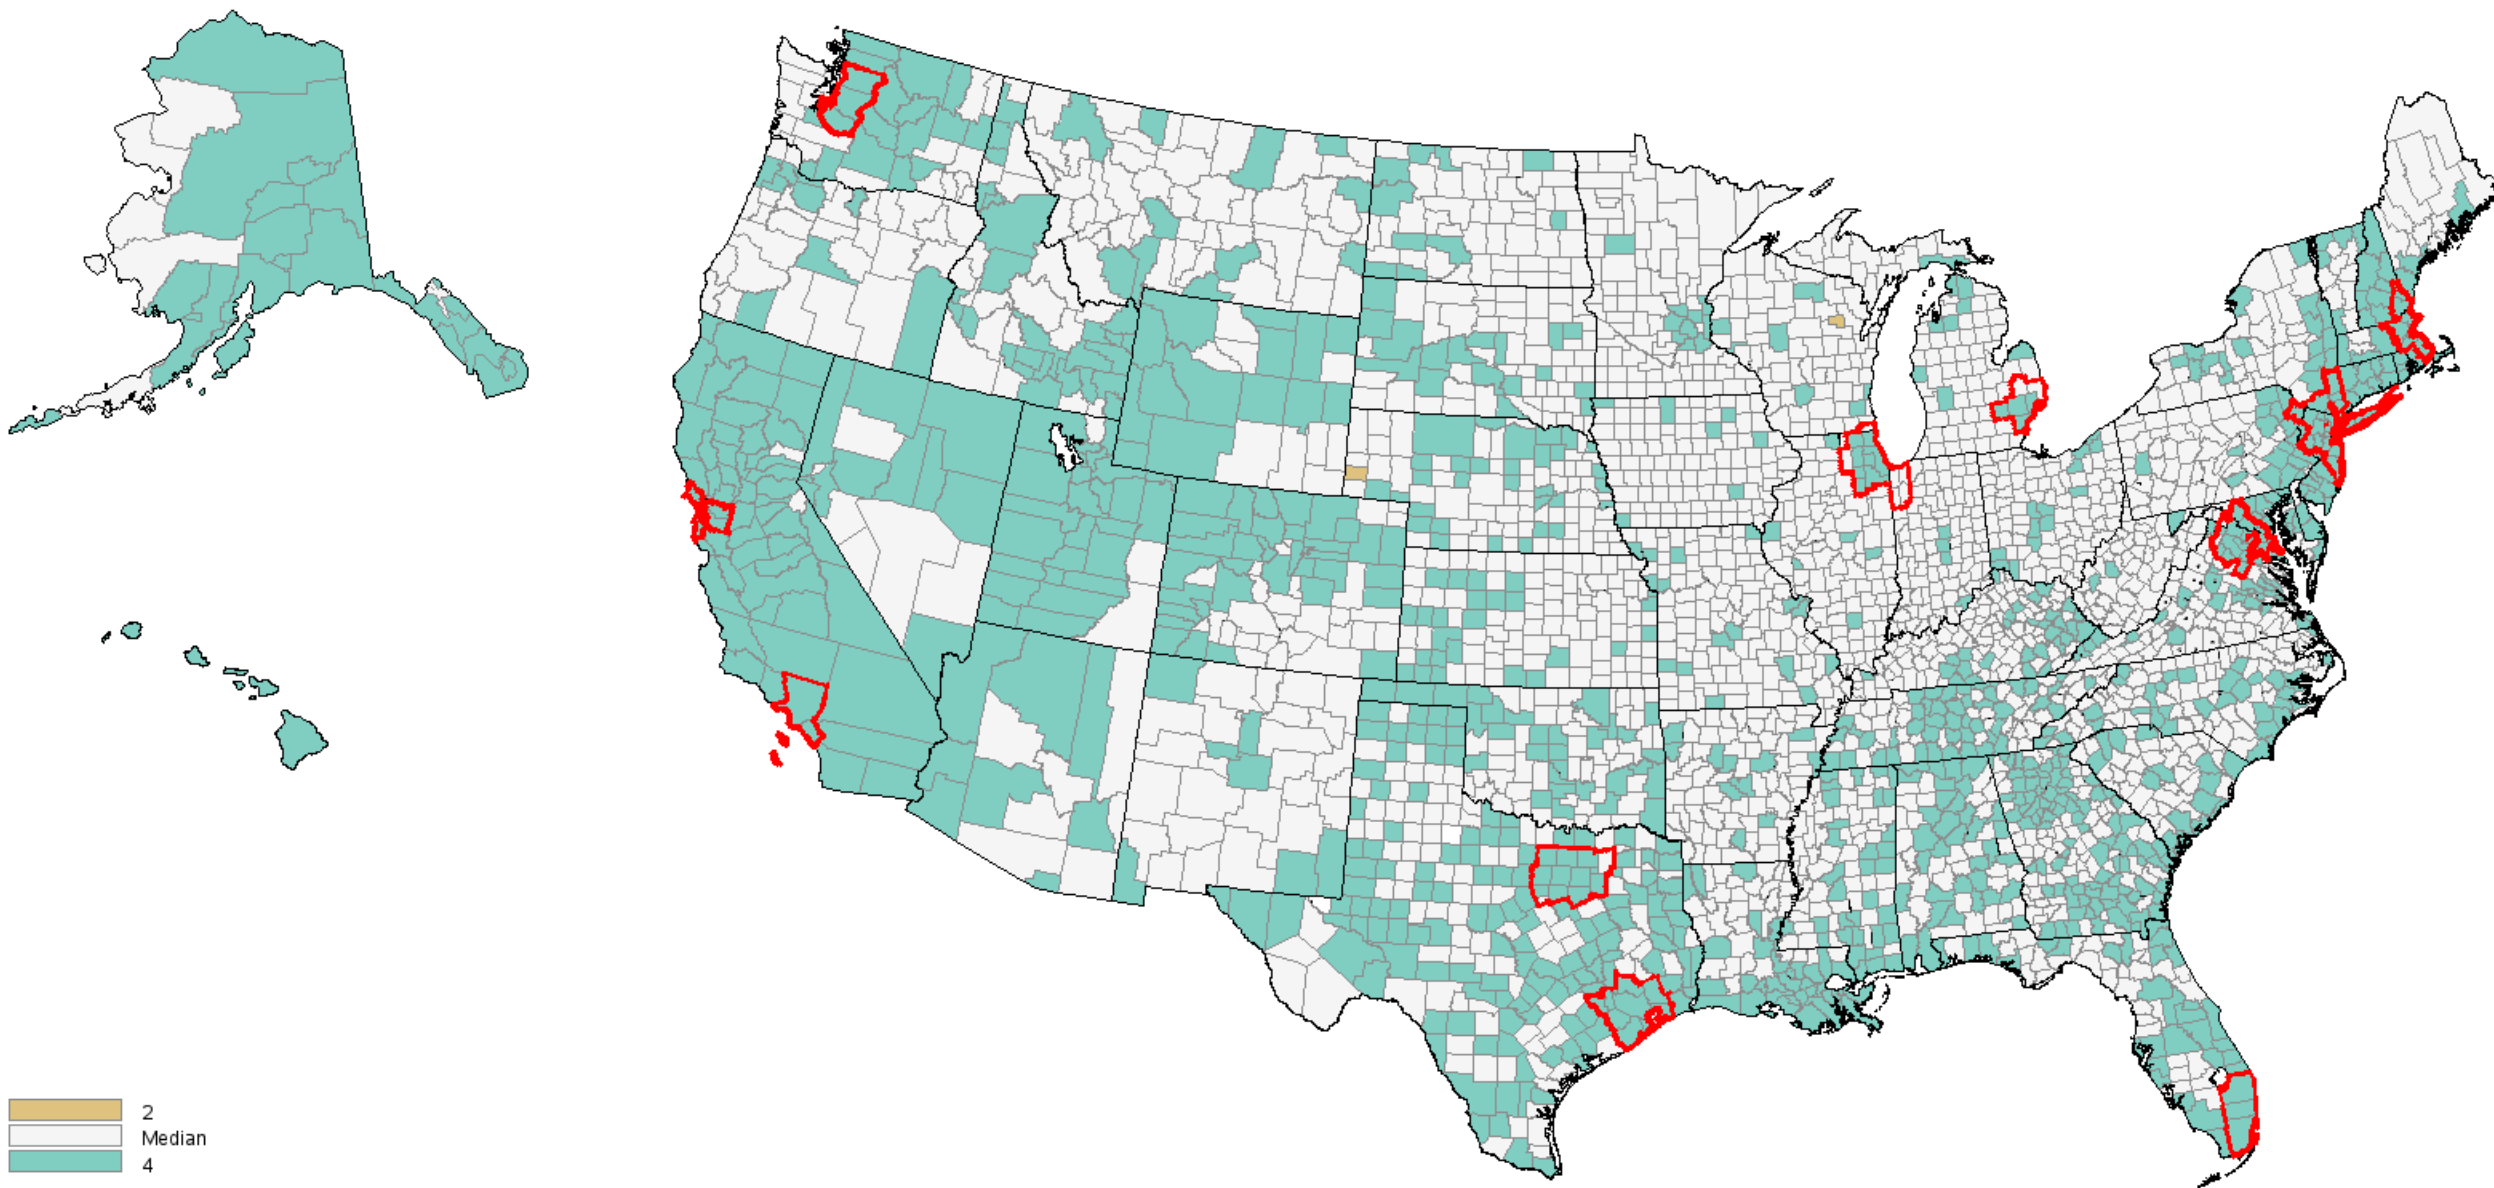

Surplus (Quasi-rent) per Worker - 1997

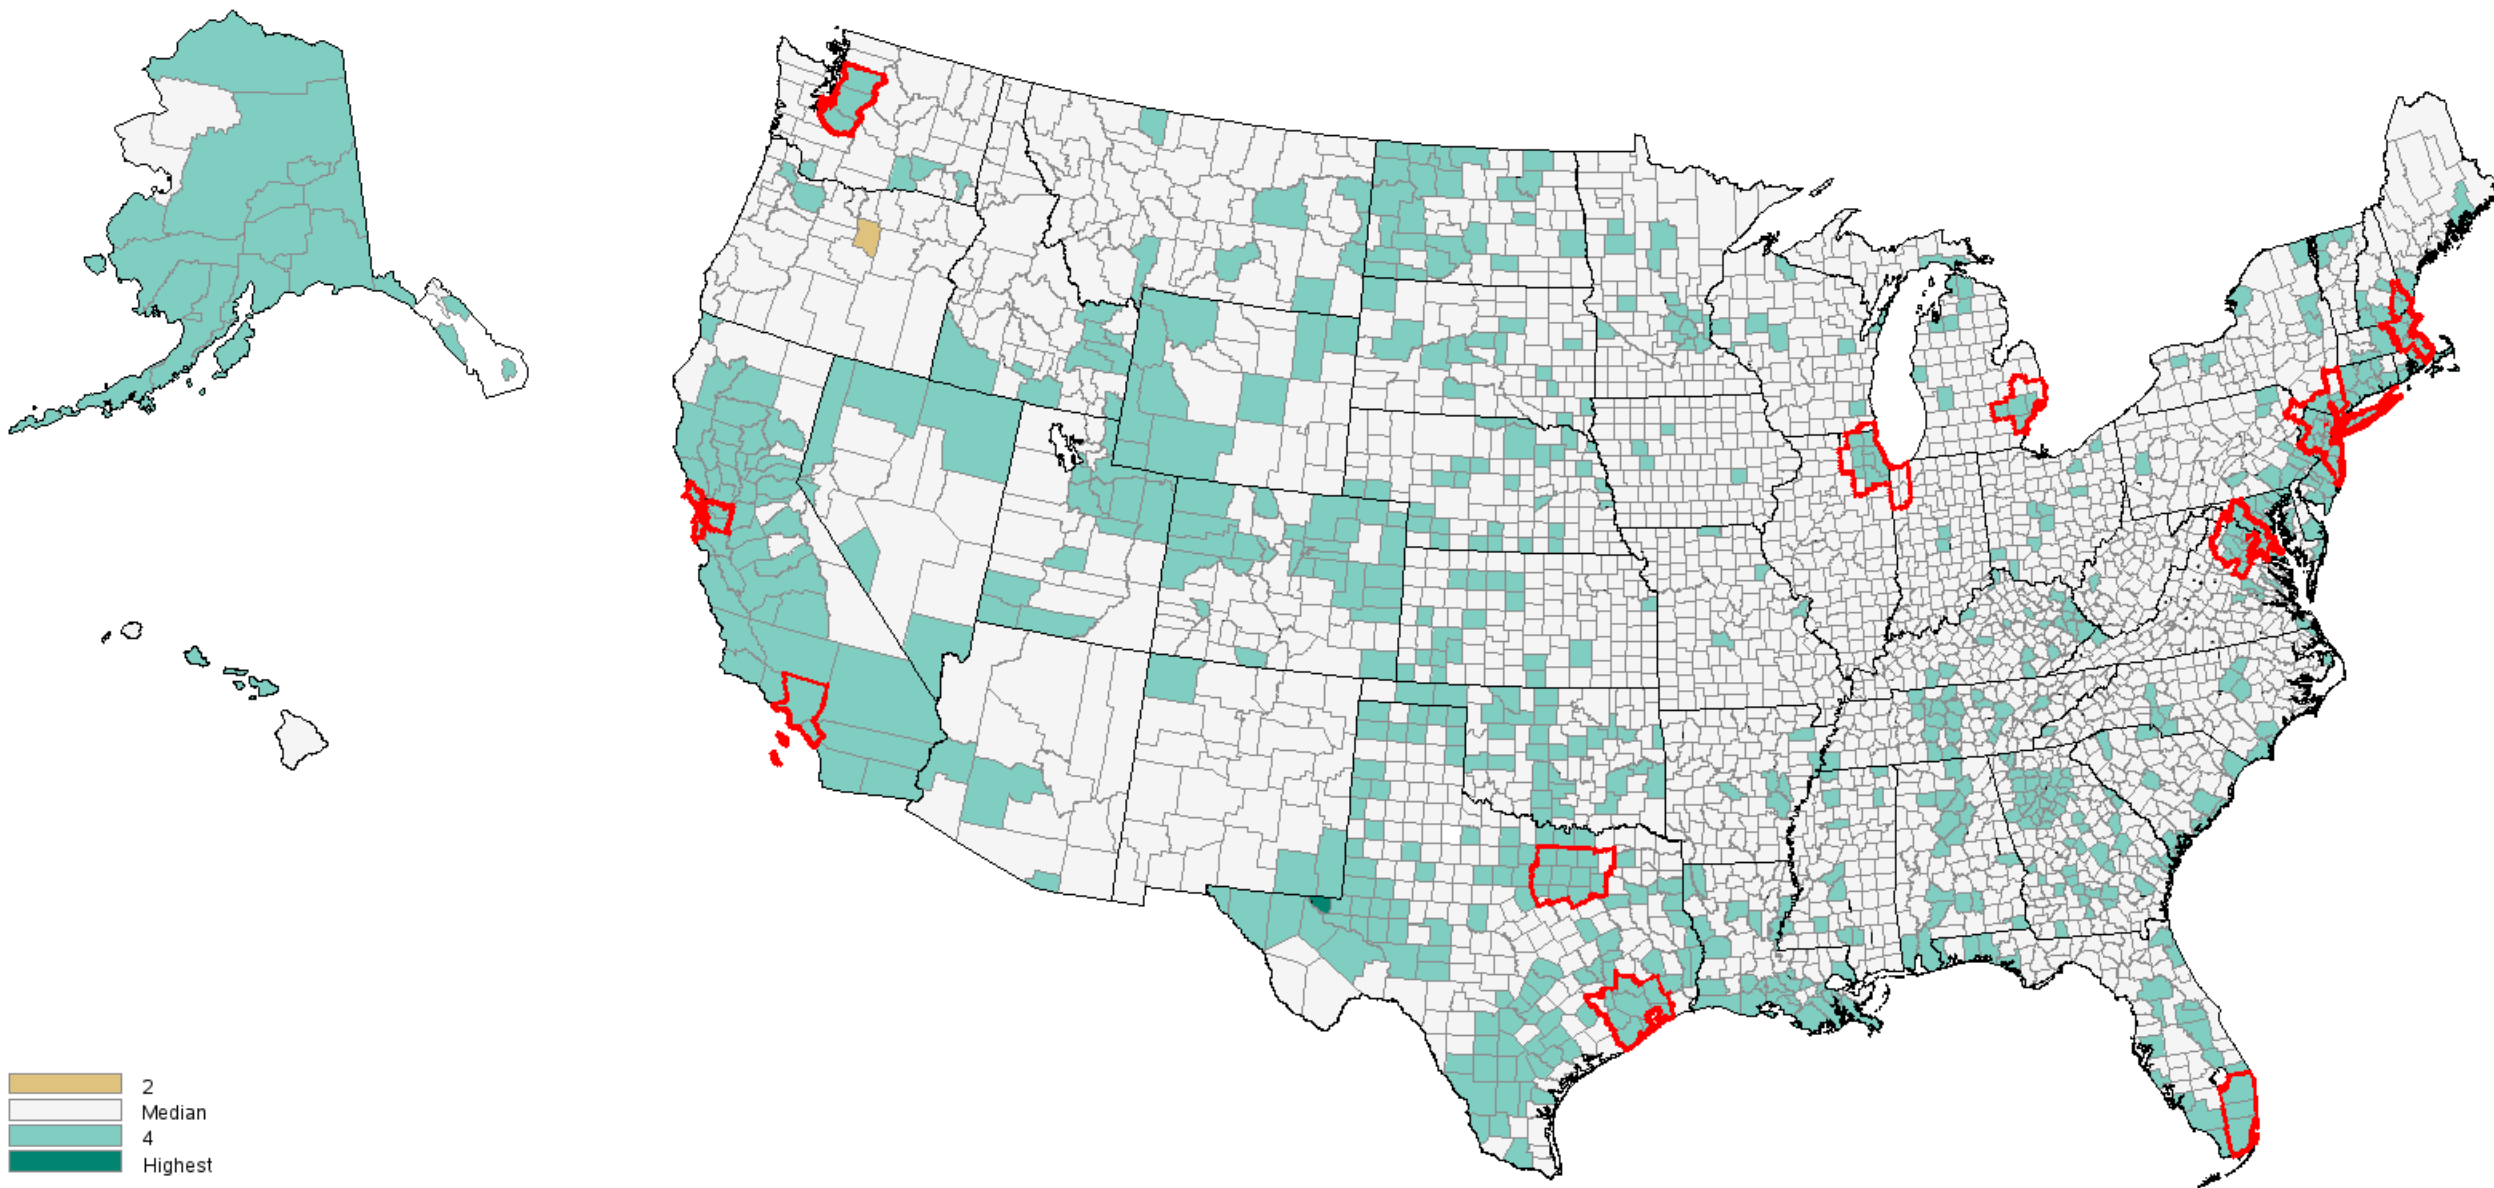

Surplus (Quasi-rent) per Worker - 2002

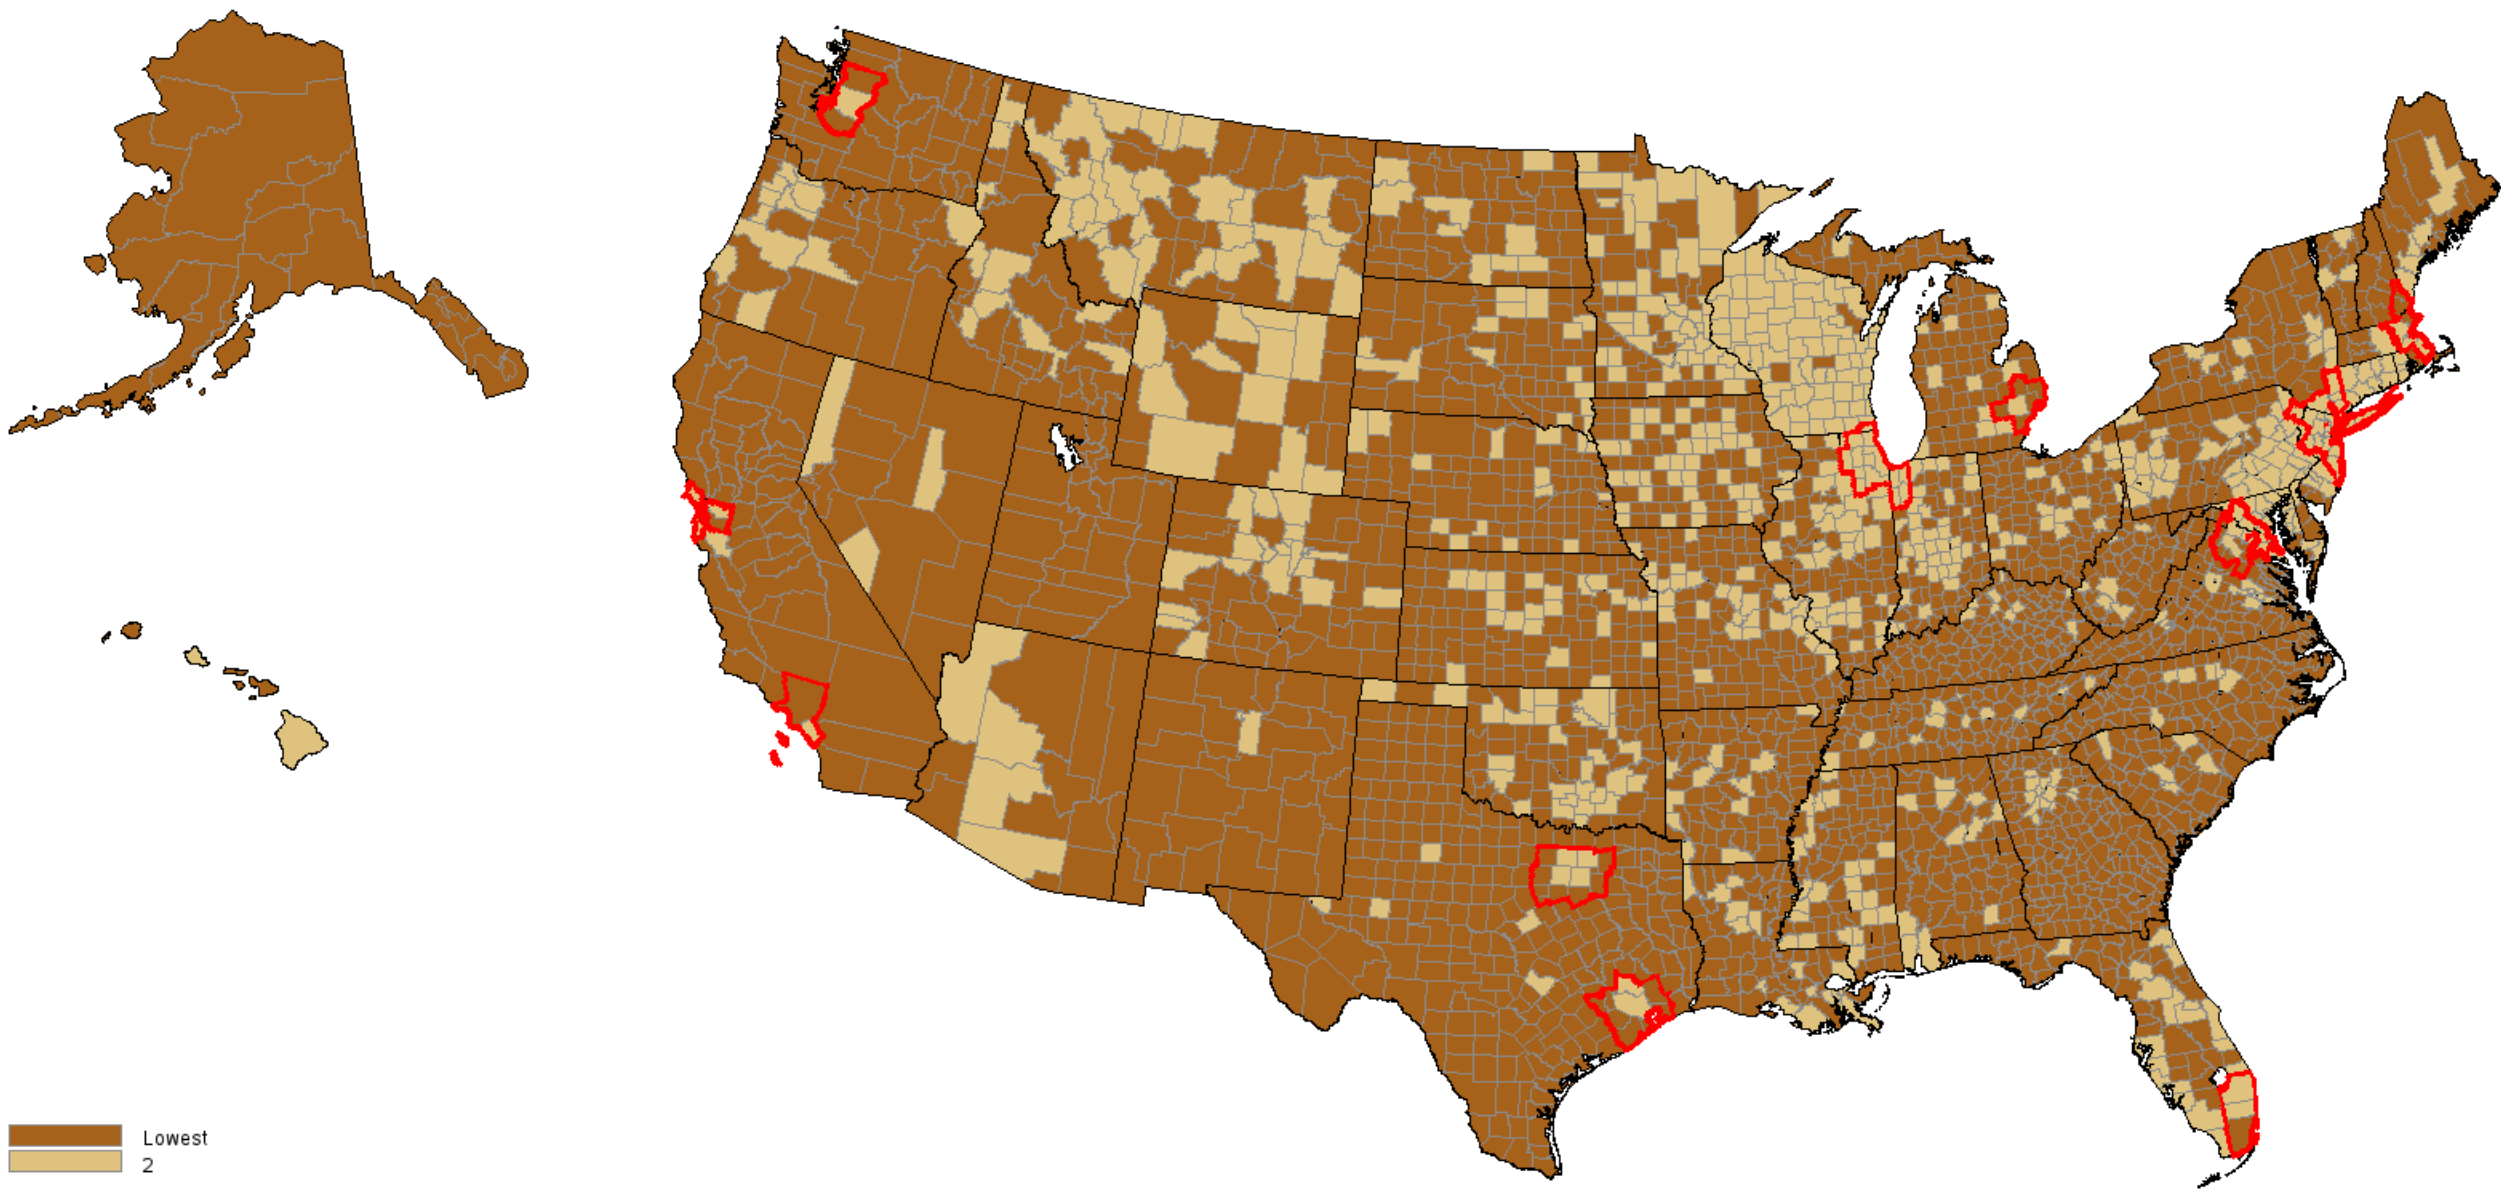

Surplus (Quasi-rent) per Worker - 2007

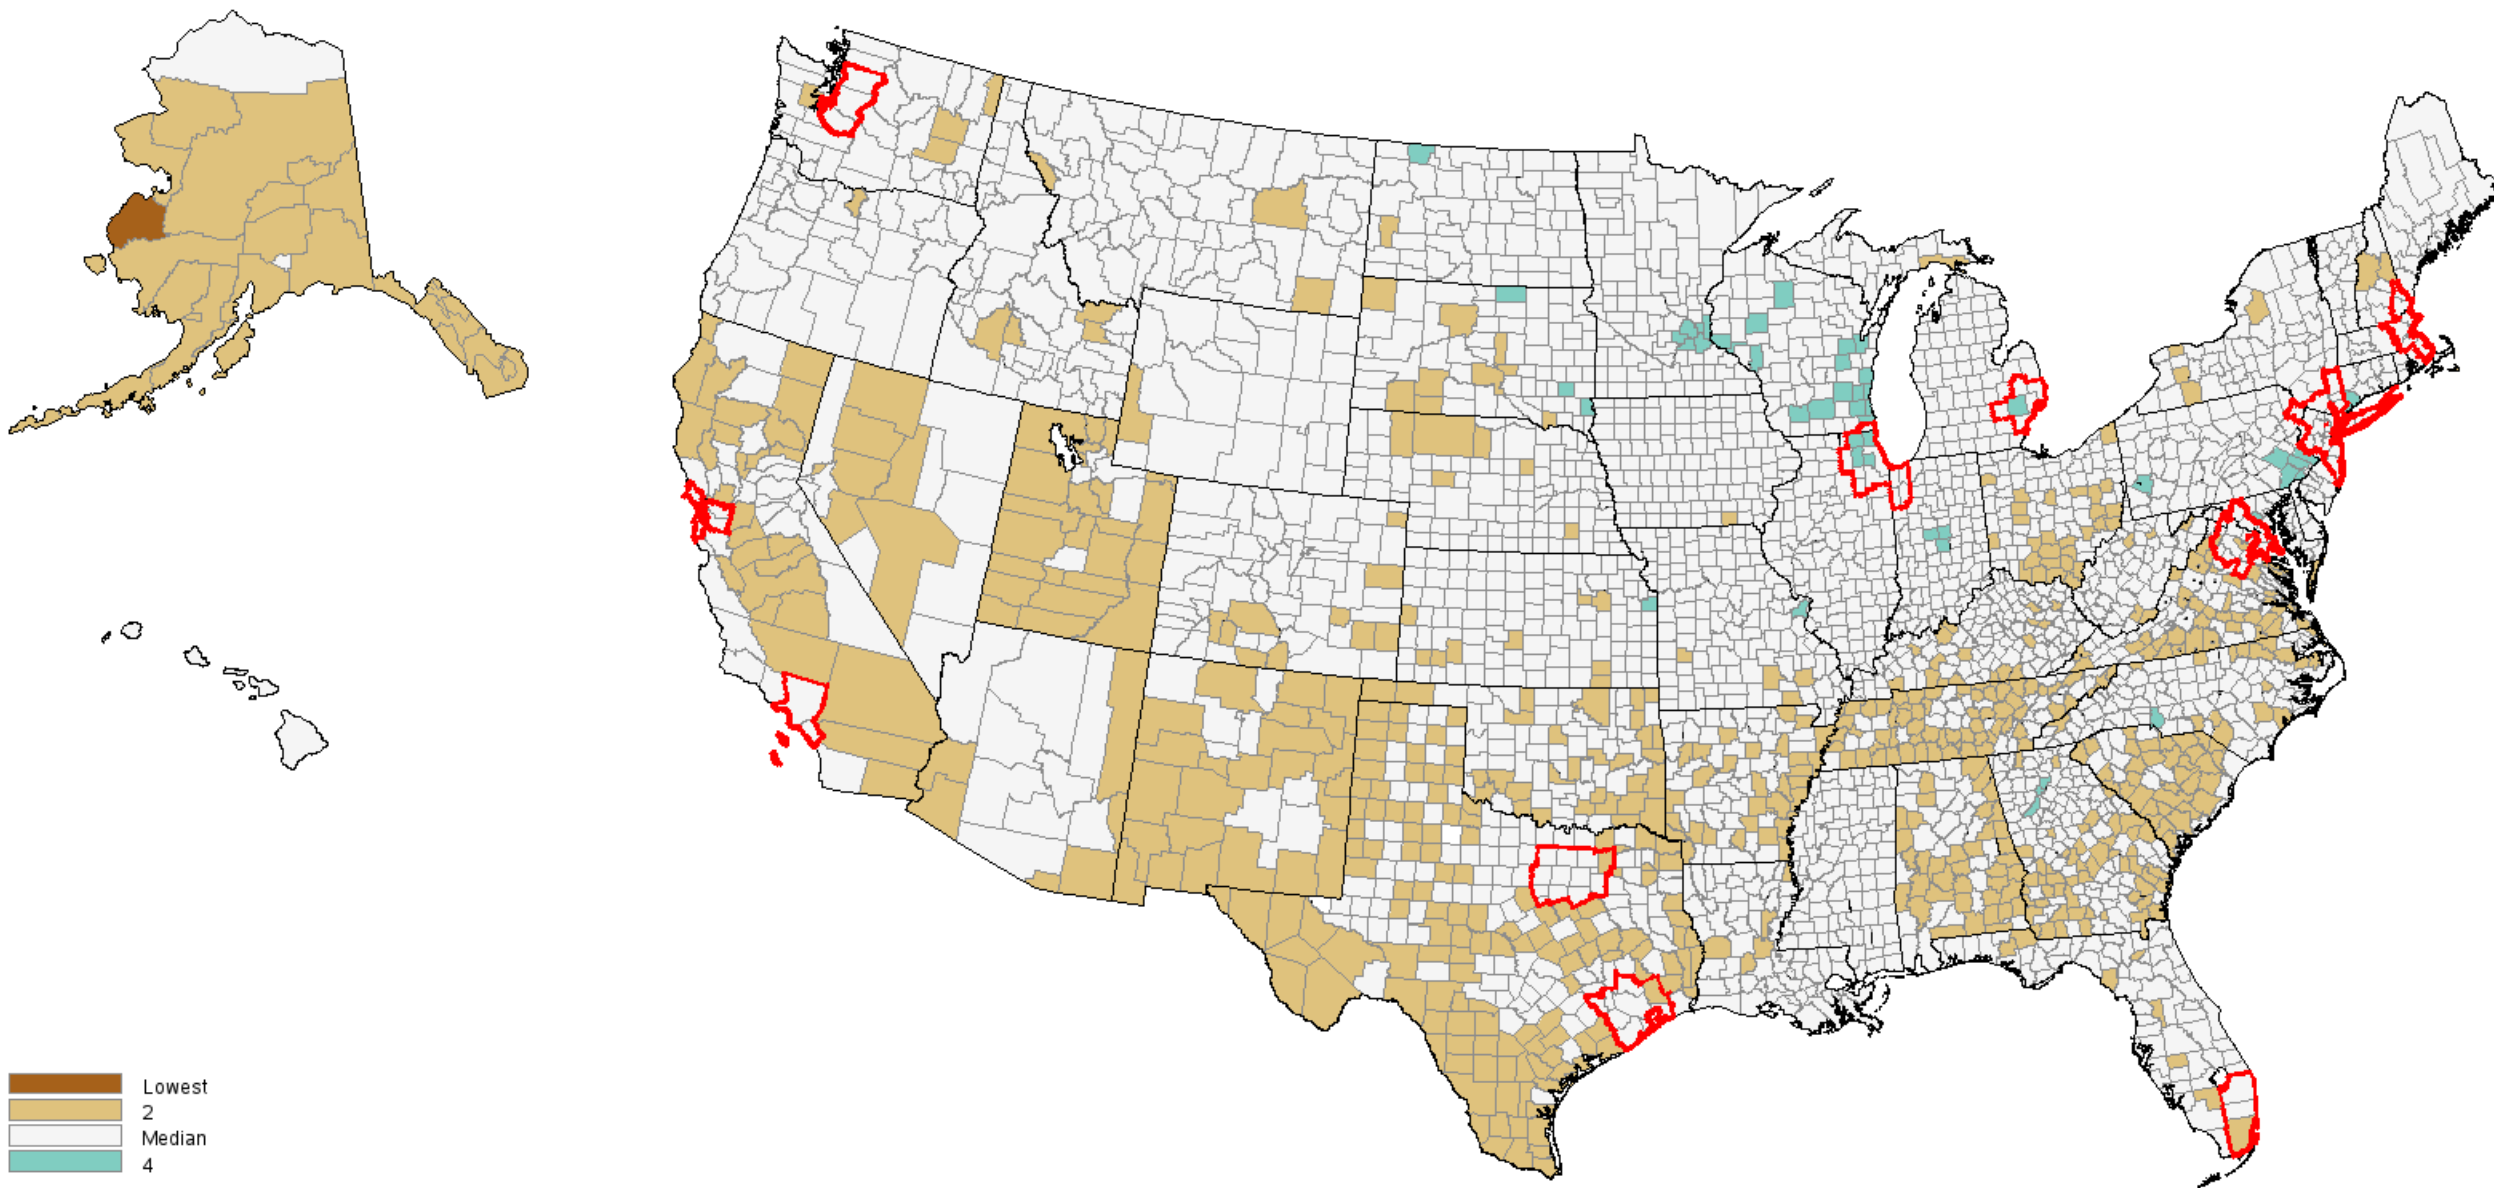

Surplus (Quasi-rent) per Worker - 2012

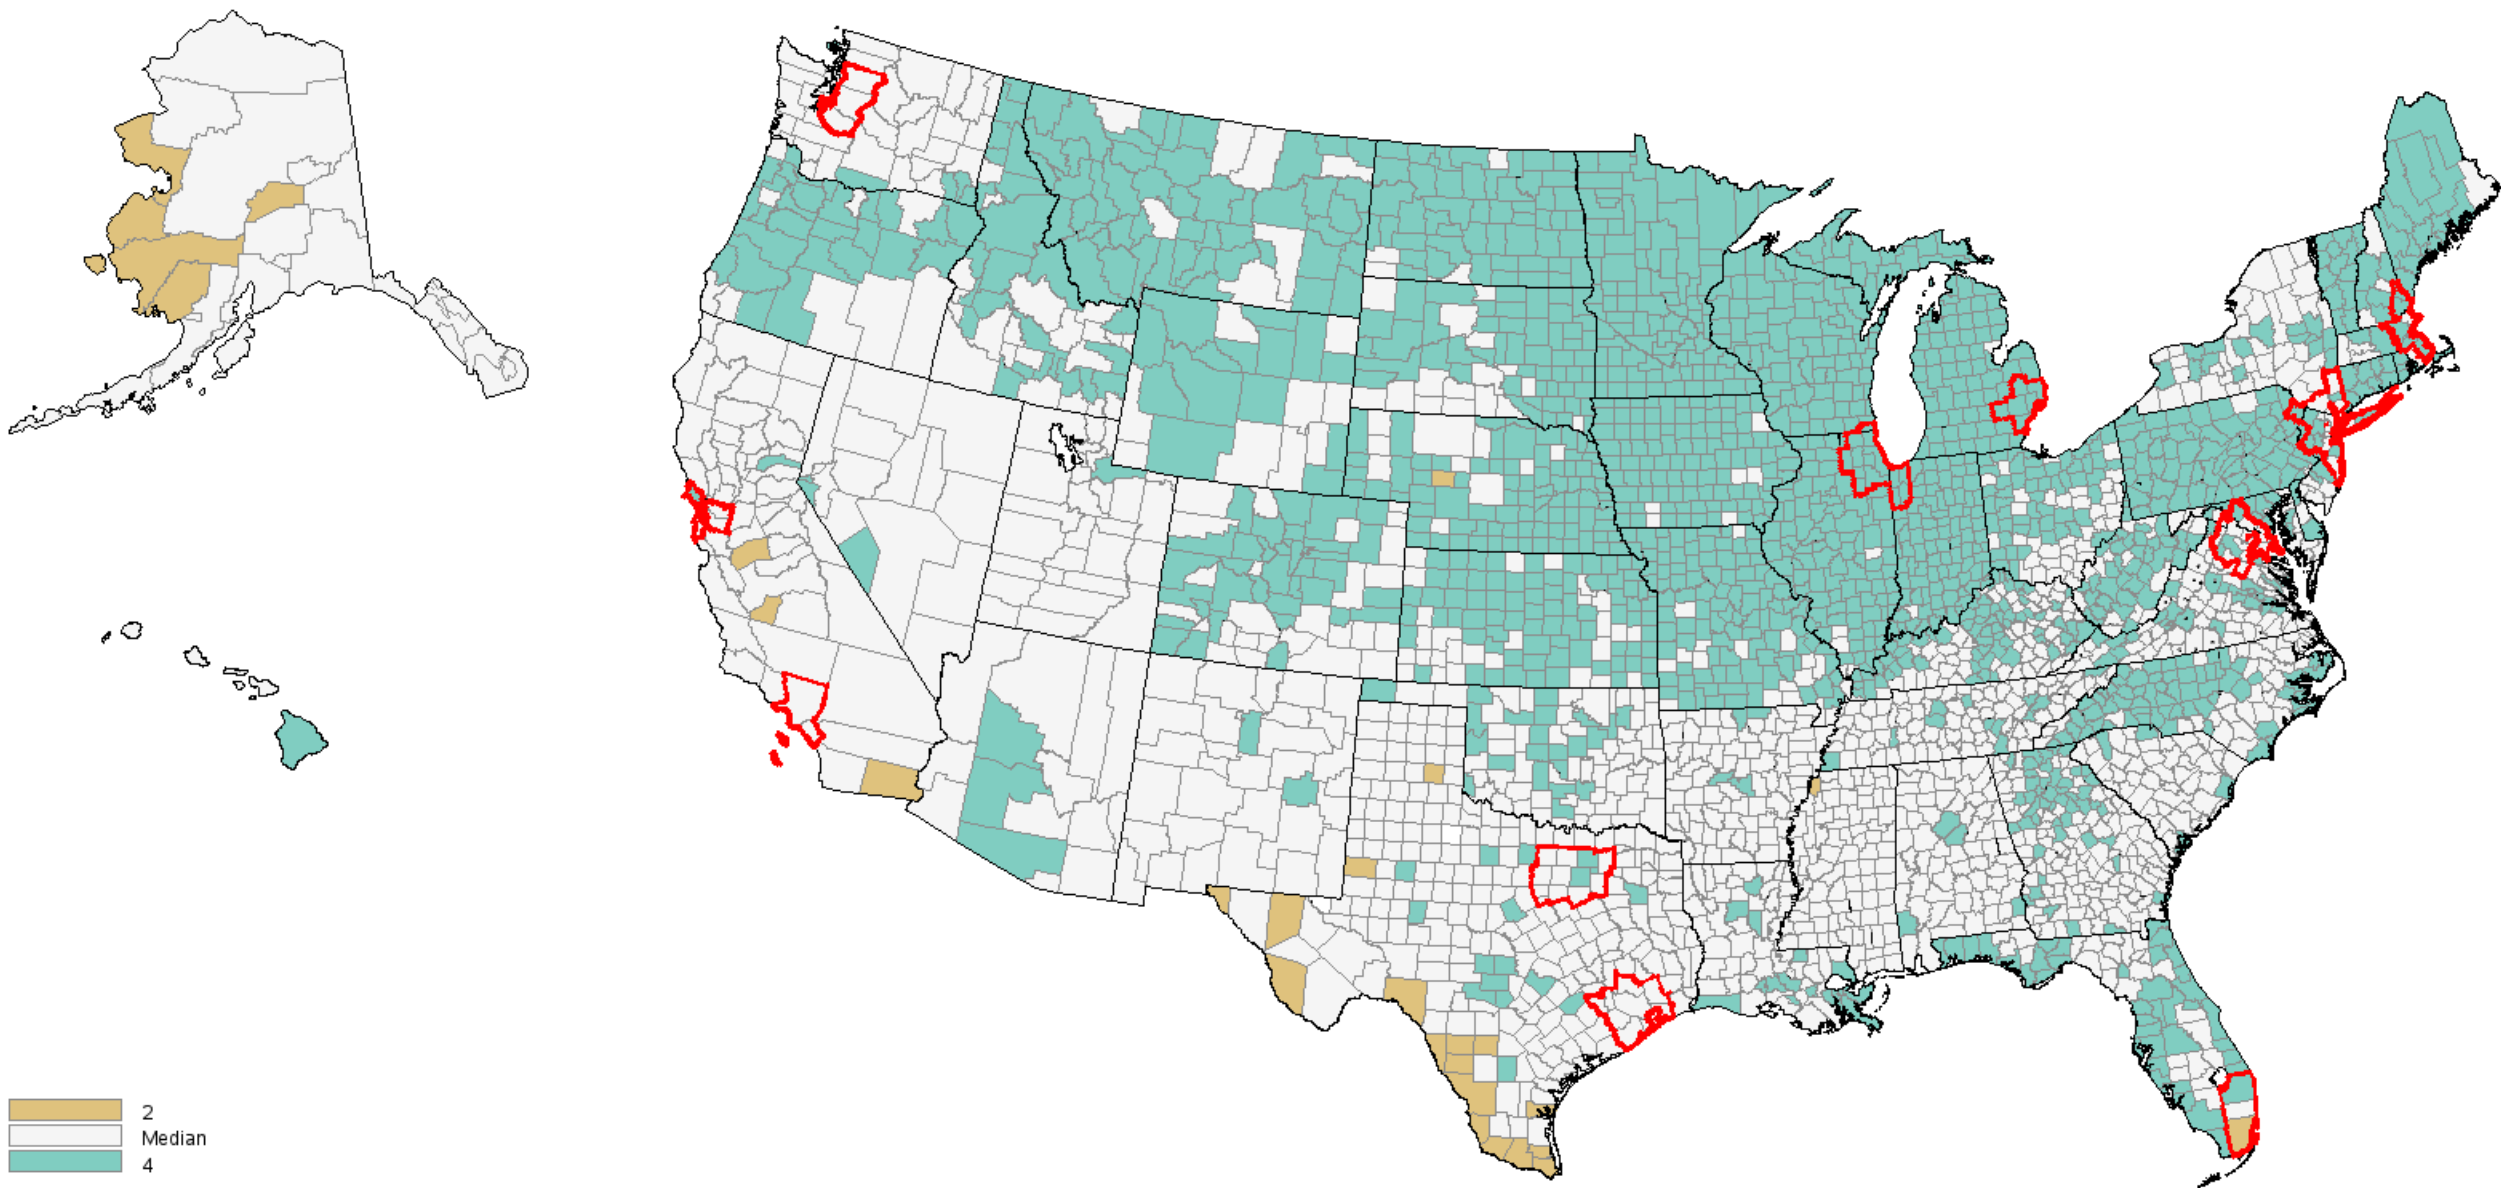

Opportunity Wage Rate - 1997

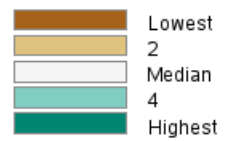

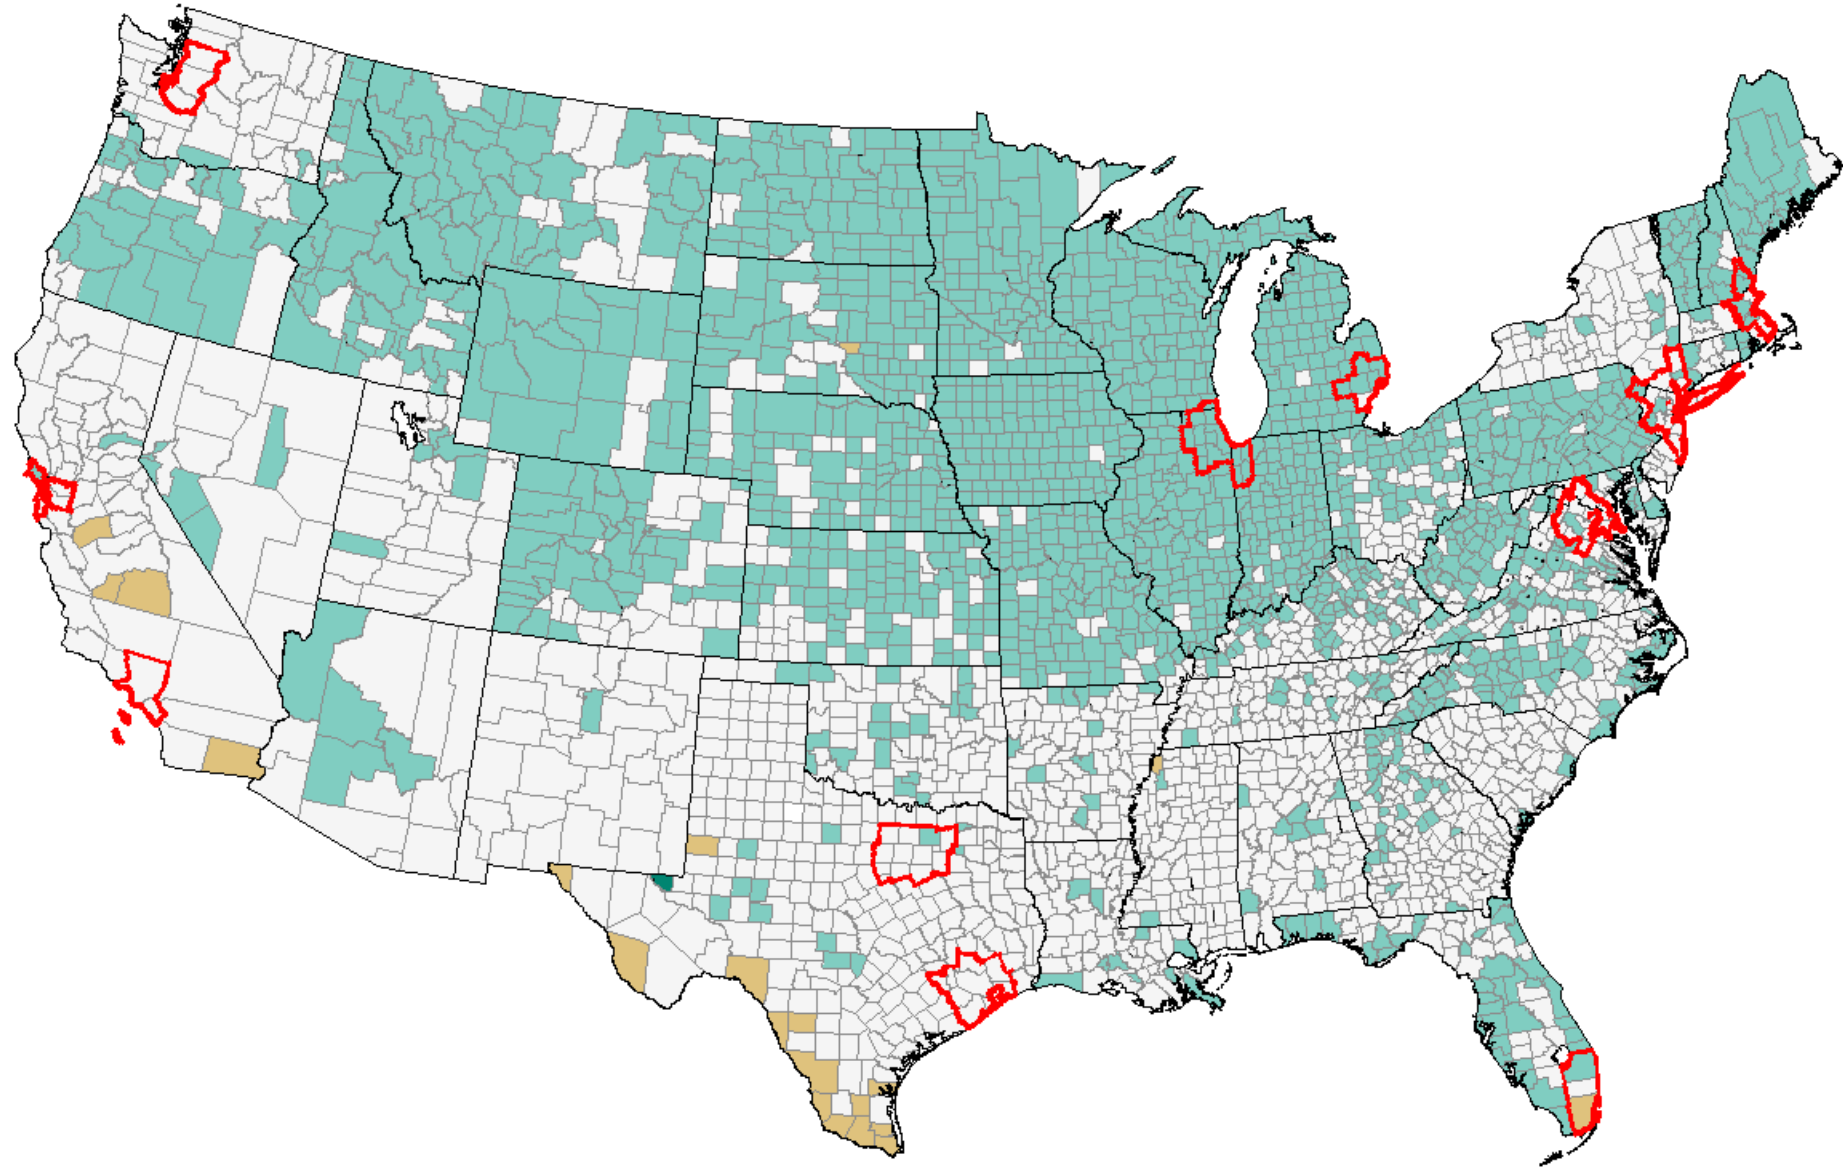

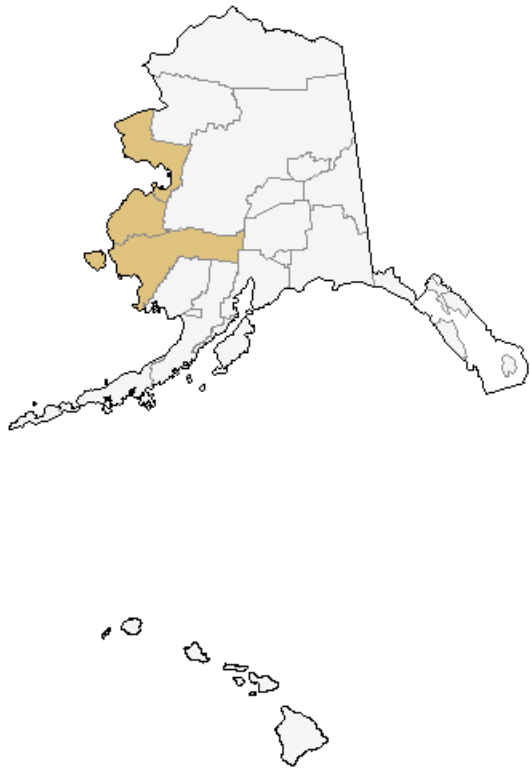

Opportunity Wage Rate - 2002

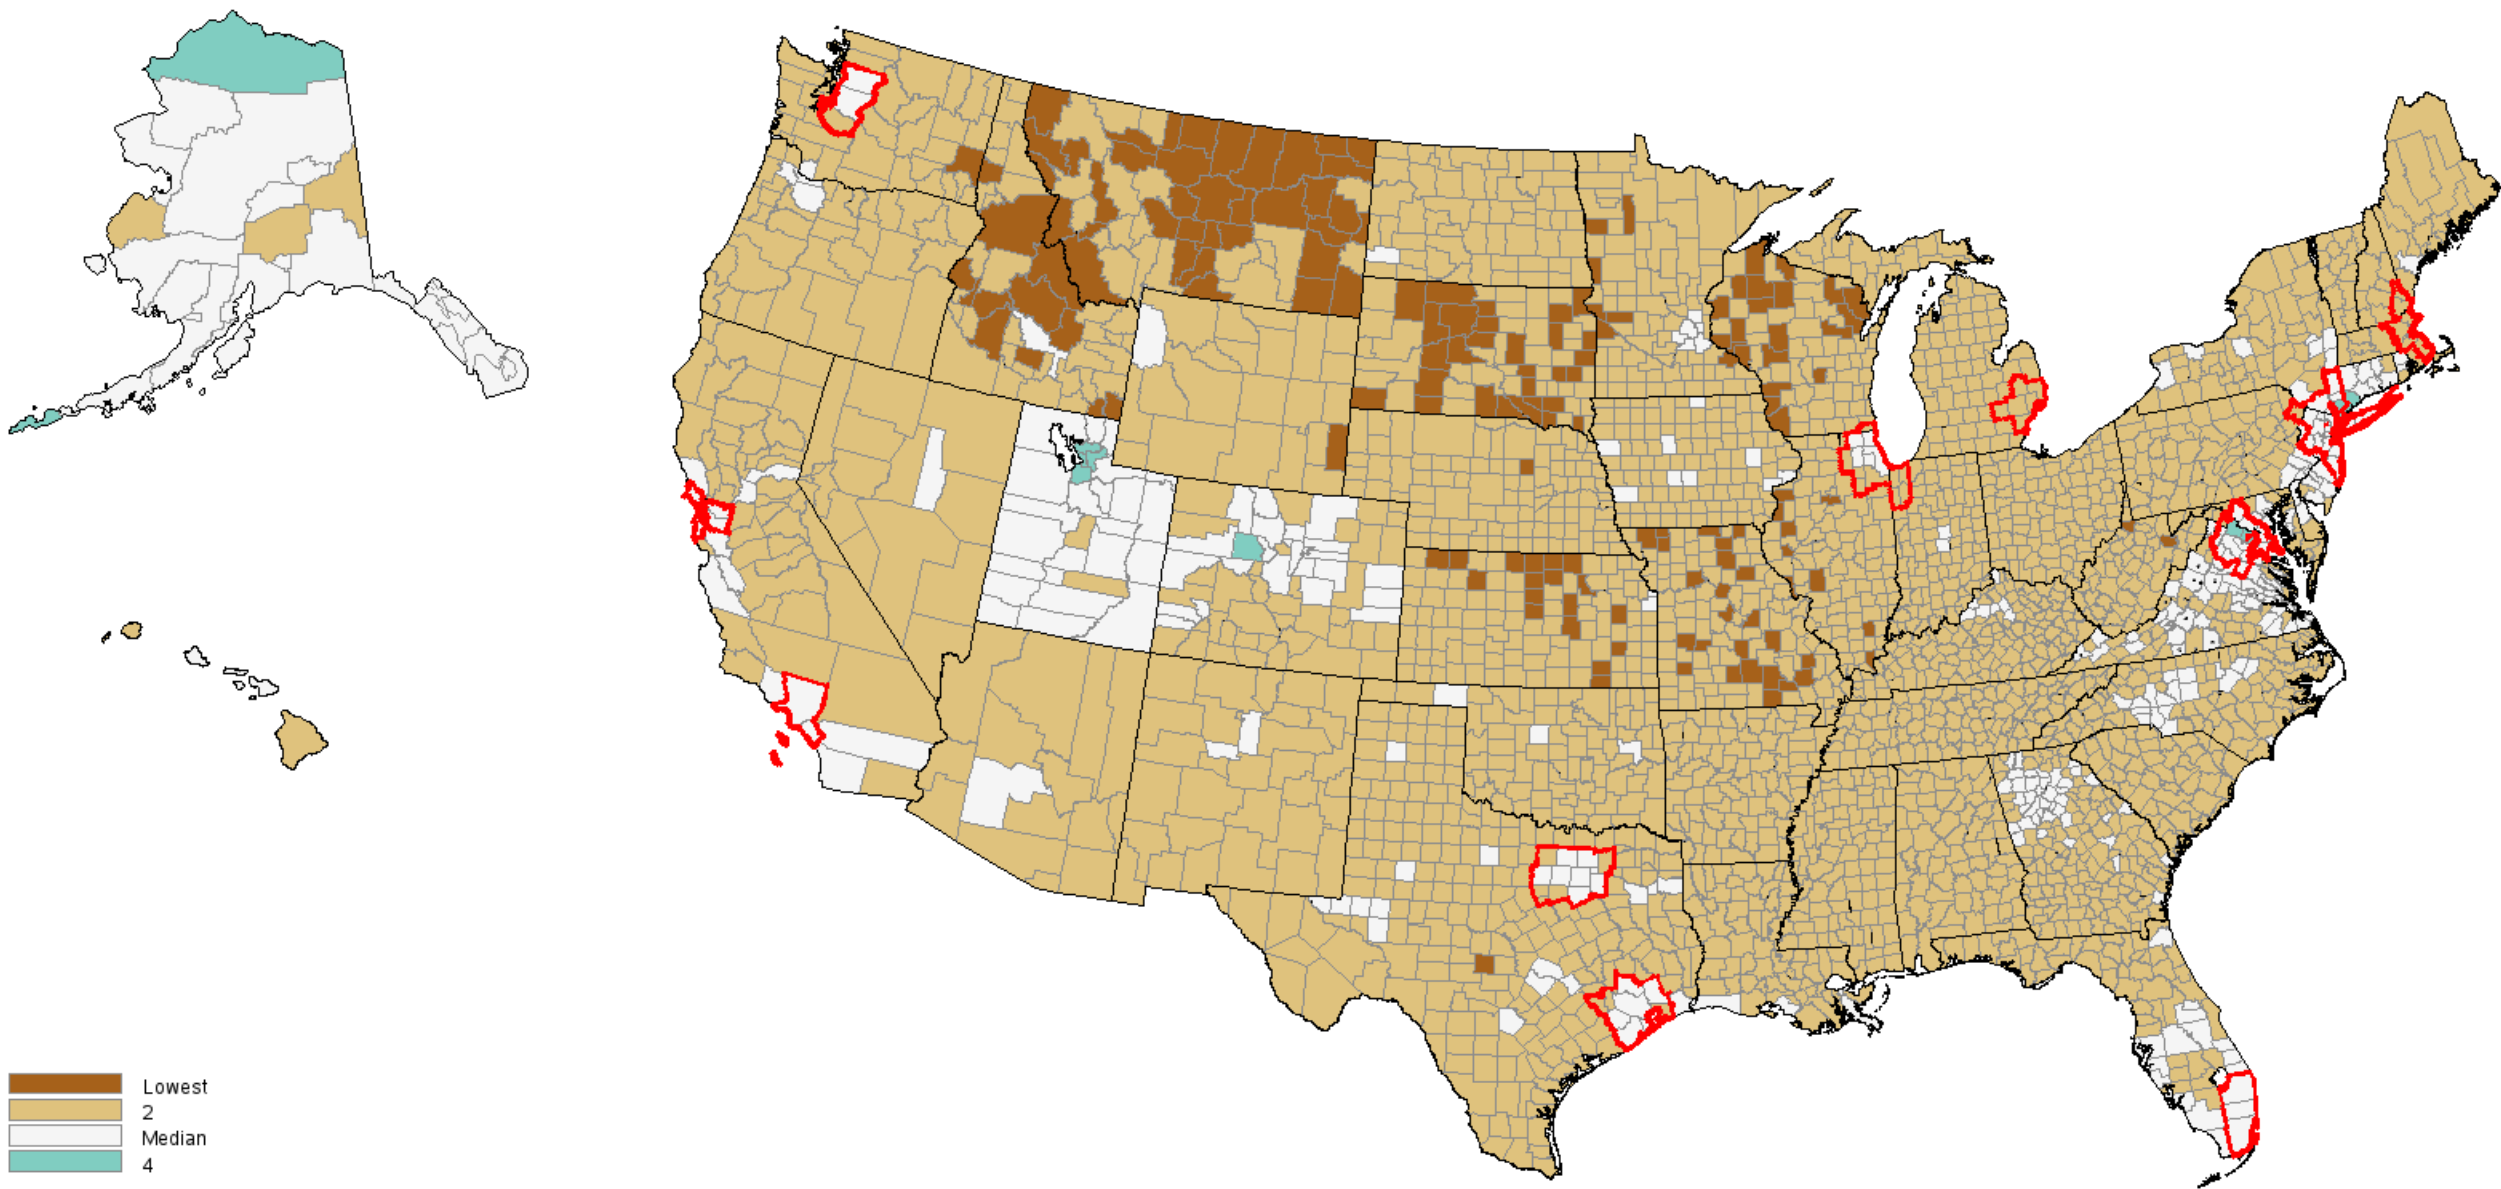

Opportunity Wage Rate - 2007

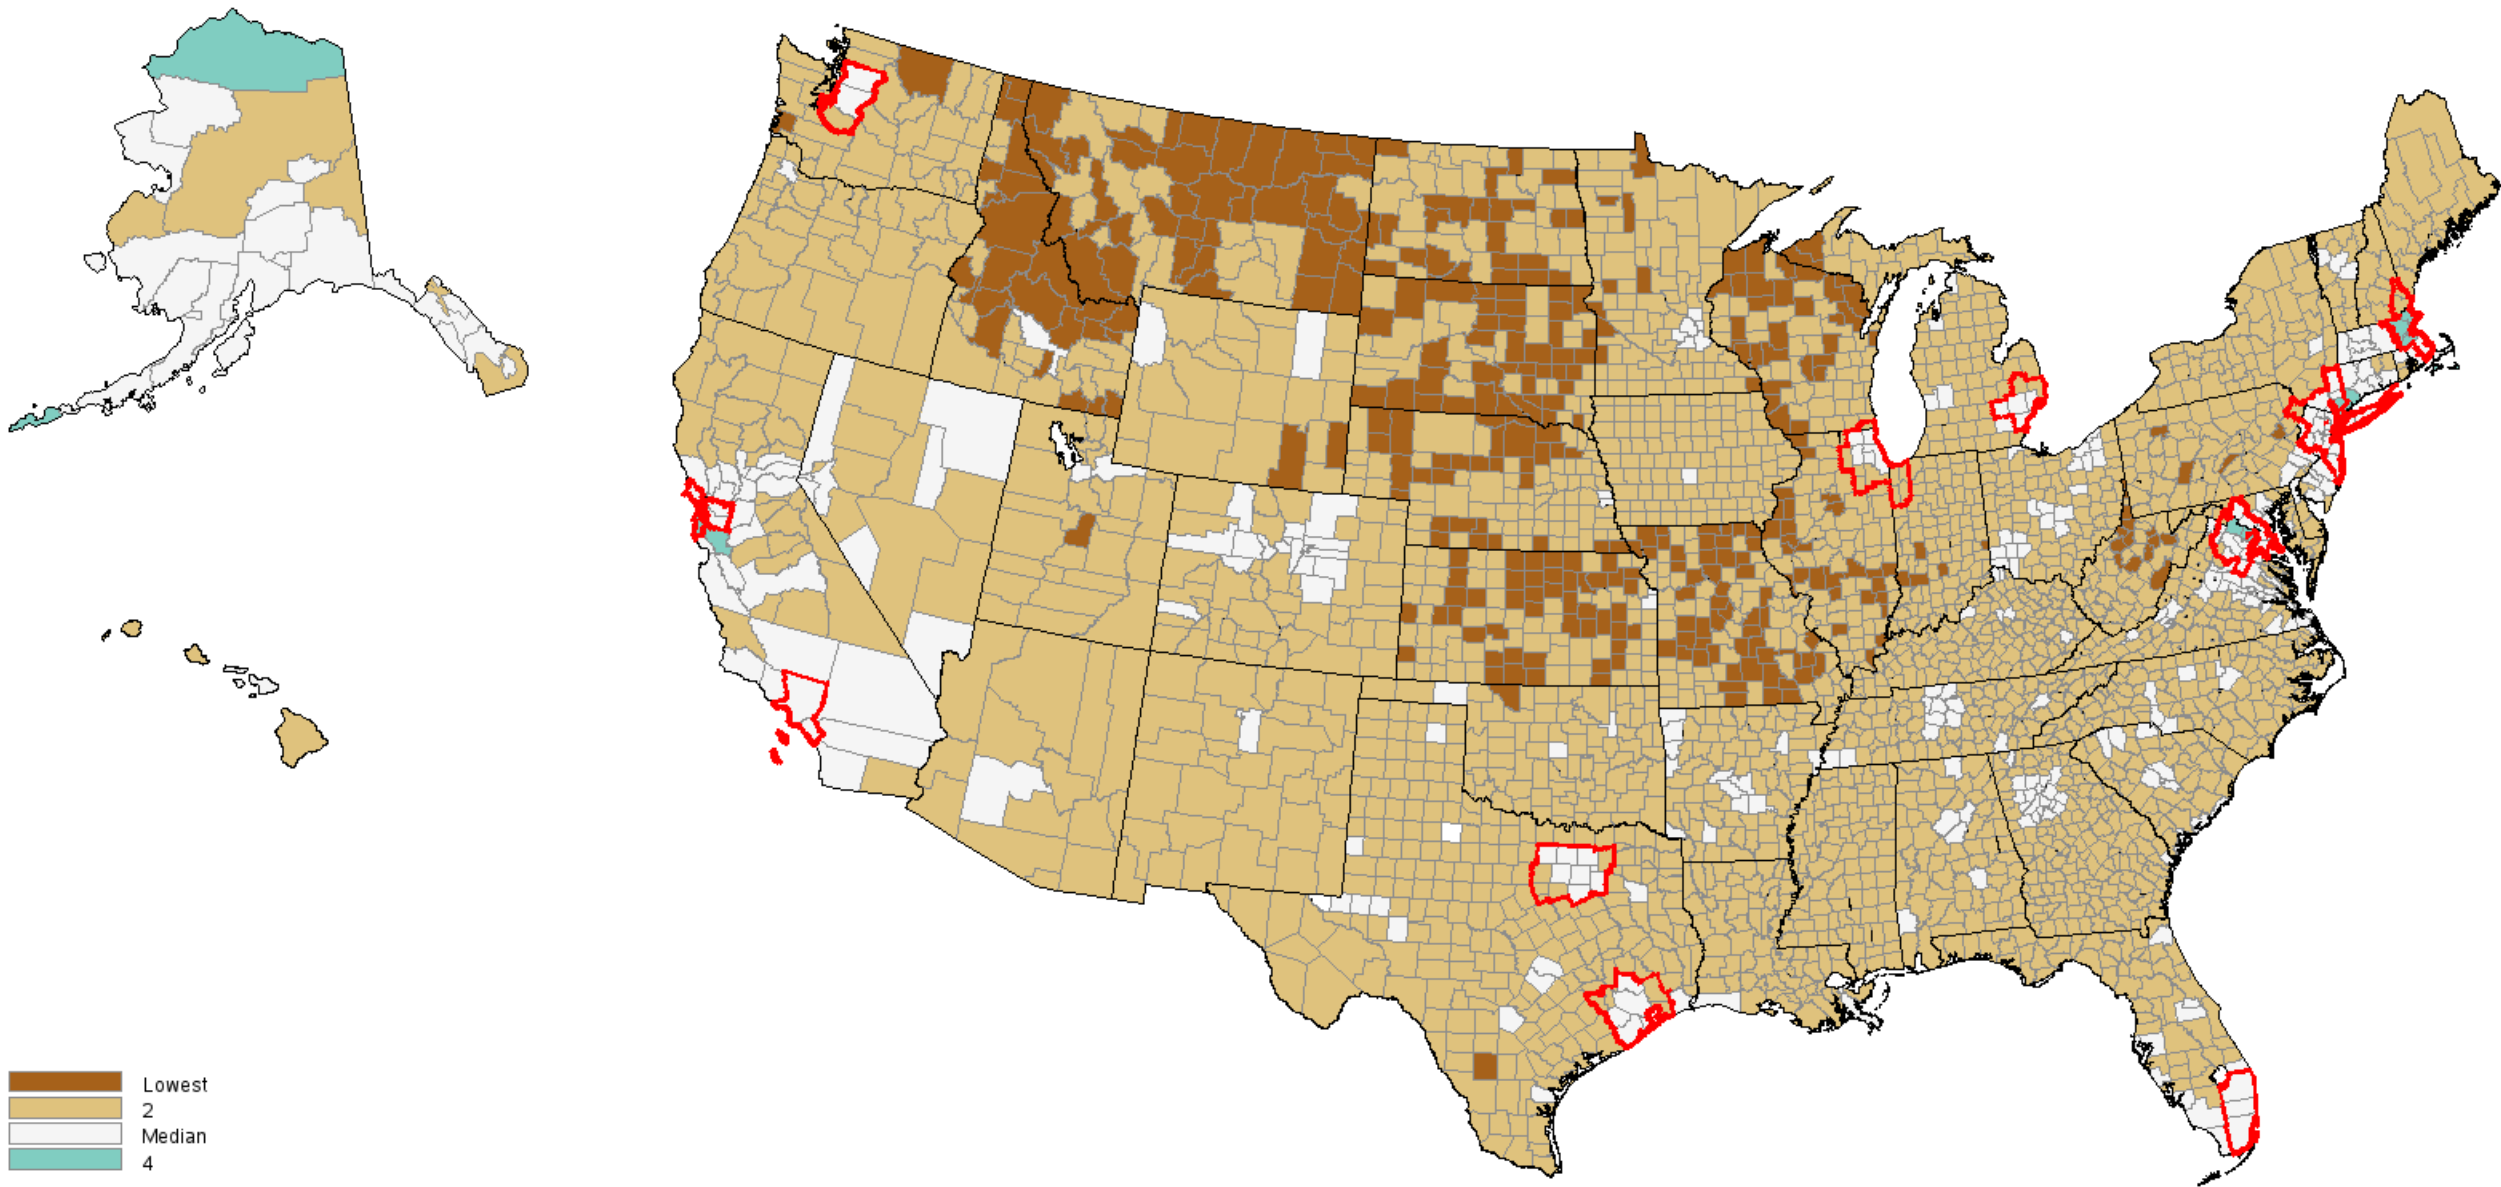

Opportunity Wage Rate - 2012

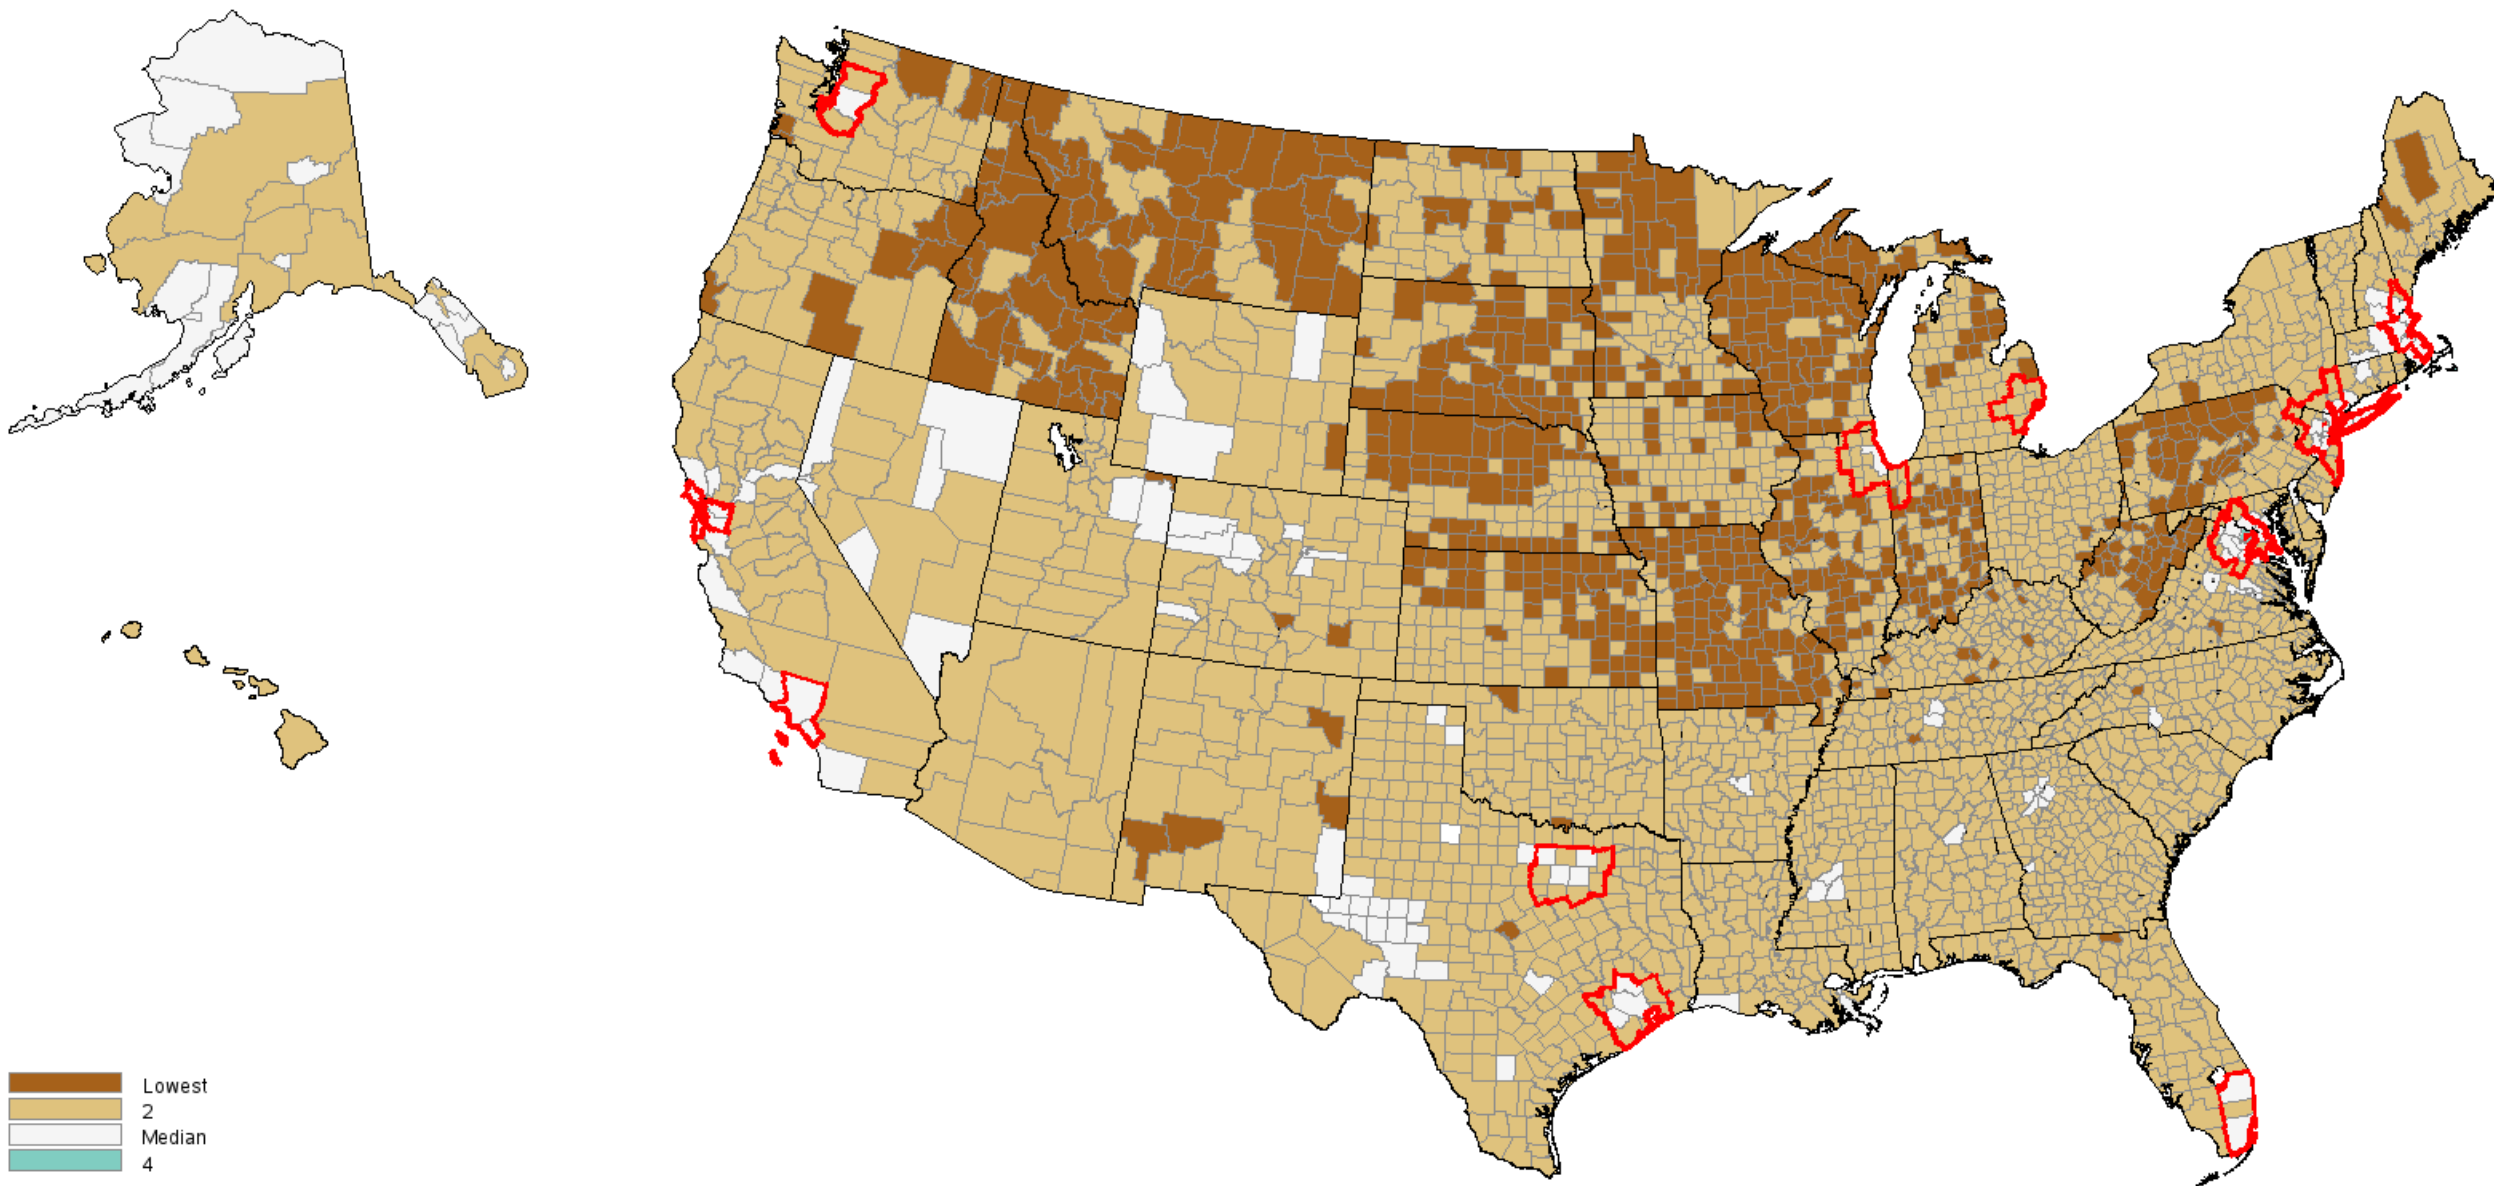

Employer Pay Premium - 1997

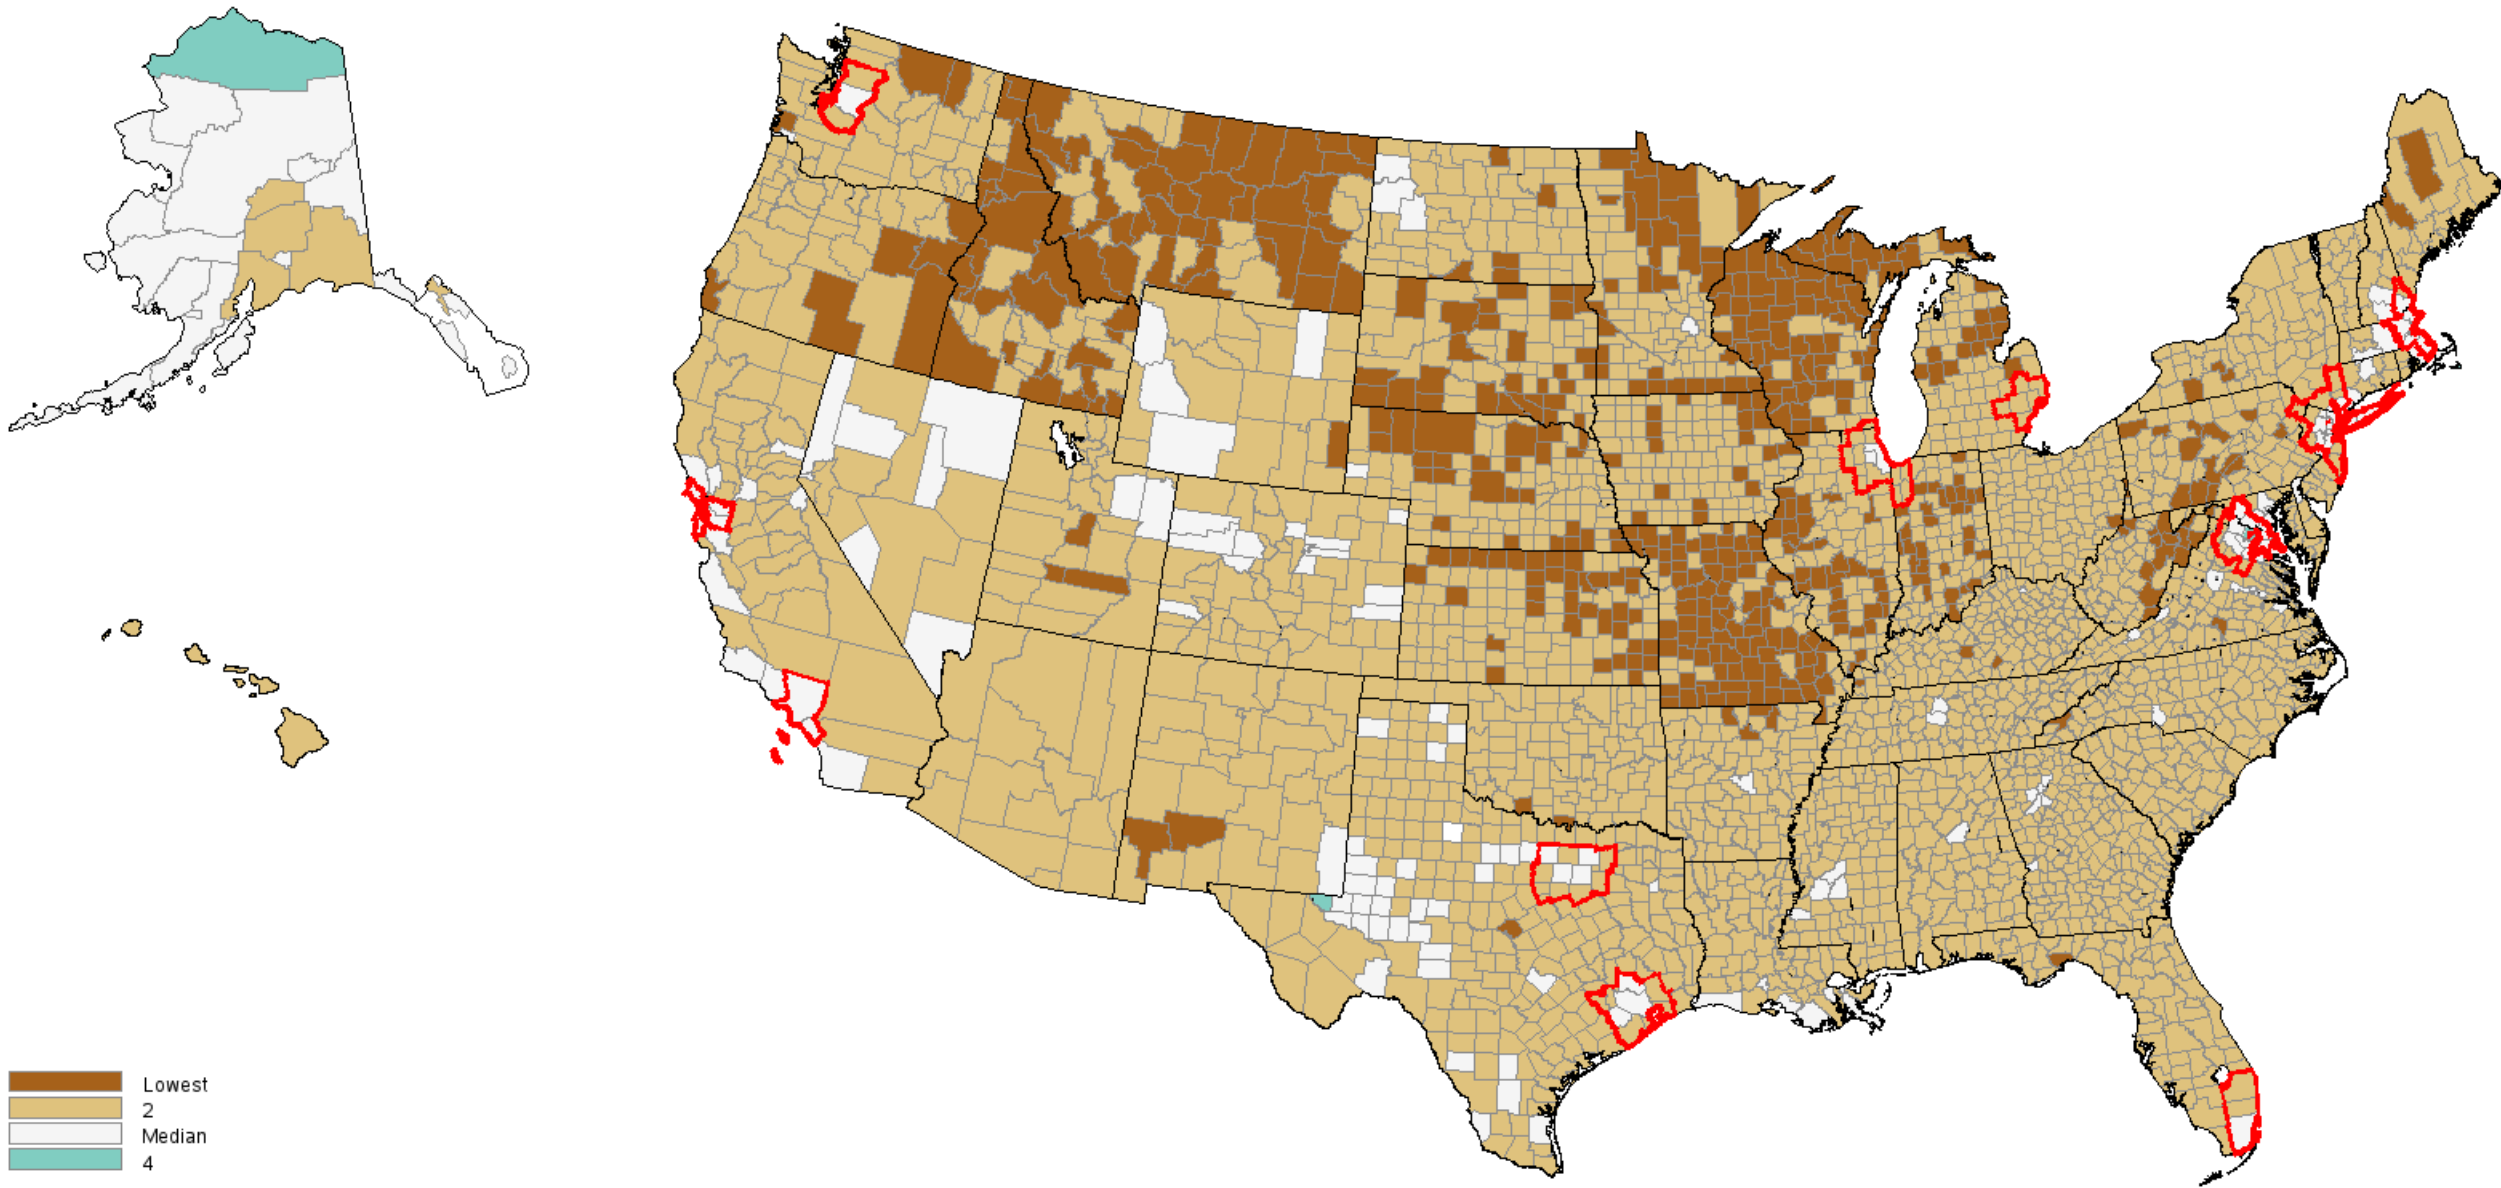

Employer Pay Premium - 2002

Employer Pay Premium - 2007

Employer Pay Premium - 2012

Thank you